Council Recesses on Budget, Tax Notes

DPW Pay Raise Is Let Wait

Perry Asks BPW Attend Meeting

Action on Mayor Frederick H. Stang's tentative 1957 budget, which would set a tax rate of $57.24, was put over to a recessed meeting Jan. 8.

Left for consideration in the interim was a bid for a total of $450 more for public works department employes who are listed for $150 in the budget as first presented.

Members of the Board of Public Works, the city engineer and public works superintendent will be invited to the next session as the result of requests by Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R.), and Richard V. Roth (R.), 12th ward.

Council 'Is the Place'

Perry noted that he had been invited by the BPW to attend a meeting of that board to explain charges made at a council meeting, and he said he felt that this (the council room) "is the place" to meet with the board and the invited officials.

Perry asked City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer to extend the invitation, and Roth said he would like the city engineer to attend to explain an item of some $20,000 in engineering fees for work on Ringtop road, Wilkie avenue, Pearl street extension and Hope street, which by last night's council action was renamed Overlook Drive.

Mayor Stang's budget as presented for public hearing last Friday totals $2,335,665.36. The amount to be raised by taxes is $2,206,282.65, and the tax rate per $1,000 of $57.24, is $5.44 under the 1956 rate.

Civil Service Explanation

The bid for a total of $450 more for public works employes was made by Attorney John Kelly, representing the New York State Civil Service Employes Association.

Of the amount requested, Kelly said, $300 is sought as a straight salary increase, and $150 to make up for what workmen in the department stand to lose by the fact that by state law they are not permitted to receive time-and-a-half for overtime.

Says Rate Here Lower

Figured on an hourly basis, Kelly said, laborers in the department now receive $1.34 an hour, while the standard state rate "except in one or two isolated cases" is $1.65 an hour.

With a raise of $300 alone, he noted, the local hourly rate would still be 16 cents an hour below the state standard, and he proposed the $150 to make up for what the men stand to lose in being paid only straight time for overtime. He noted in-

Democrats Take Over, Lausche Favors Party

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Democrats took the controls of the new 85th Congress today—but only after a brief Senate scare—and started a session already confronted with a momentous foreign affairs issue.

President Eisenhower will go before a joint session tomorrow or Saturday to present this grave question—a request for advance approval to use U. S. troops against any Communist in the Middle East.

Javits Not Present

Tre Democratic scare in the Senate arose from the silence of Sen.-elect Frank Lausche of Ohio, right up to the climactic moment, as to whether he would vote for the Democrats to organize the Senate. He did, and the Democrats prevailed on a 49-46 vote.

Sen.-elect Javits (R.-N. Y.) was absent.

In the House, the Democrats took over in routine fashion reinstalling the veteran Sam Rayburn of Texas as speaker on a vote of 227-199.

Lausche, elected as a Democrat, had once intimated he might vote to let Republicans have control of the Senate organization since the White House is held by that party.

With Lausche silent as to his intentions, the air was heavy with tension as the senators met at noon (EST).

Lausche, sporting a red carnation in his coat lapel, sat in the rear on the Democratic side.

The galleries were packed.

Adlai in Gallery

One of the spectators was Adlai E. Stevenson, the unsuccessful Democratic presidential standard bearer in 1952 and 1956.

Stevenson sat with James Finnegan of Philadelphia, his campaign director, and Democratic Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh.

Lausche took his stand when the senators were called on to vote for a president pro tempore. This is the officer who presides when Vice President Nixon is absent.

The Democratic nominee was Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona. The GOP offered Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Lausche went along with the rest of the Democrats. So it was Hayden 49, Bridges 46.

Since Javits was not there to vote, the outcome did not turn on Lausche's vote.

But had Lausche gone with the Republicans and had they been able to bring in Javits and swear him in, the GOP would have had 48 votes, the same as the Democrats, and Republicans could have taken control through Vice President Nixon's tie-breaking vote.

Vote Brings Applause

A stillness settled over the chamber when Lausche's name was called.

There was a round of applause from the Democrats when he voted for Hayden.

Then, the ailing Sen. Matthew Neely of West Virginia, just out of a hospital bed, was brought into the chamber in a wheel chair to cast his vote with fellow Democrats.

There was another round of applause as Neely's vote nailed a Democratic victory.

The Middle East issue and Lausche's tension-provoking si-

Social Security Office Now at 61 Albany Avenue

Grand opening ceremonies were held Wednesday for the new district office of the Social Security Administration at 61 Albany avenue.

Leaders in various phases of community life attended the program dedicating the office which services all of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

The new location is in the space formerly occupied by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the Empire Market building.

Formerly in Post Office

The former location was in the Central Post Office building on Broadway at Prince street.

Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, master of ceremonies, presented the silver scissors to Mayor Frederick H. Stang to cut the ribbon signifying the opening of the office.

The ribbon was held by Thomas J. Mitchell, vice president of the Joint Council AFL-CIO and Acting Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, former mayor of the city.

Guests Present

Other officials and guests attending the ceremonies were Peter Williams, supervisor of the Town of Saugerties, representing the Ulster County Board of Supervisors; Lawrence Craft, county clerk of Ulster county, Earl Benjamin, international representative of the Cement and Gypsum Workers Union, AFL-CIO, and Alfred Ronder, representing the certified public accountants of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

Additional invited guests who were expected to call during the day were Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, and former Congressman Jay LeFevre.

Among those sending greetings and who were unable to attend were County Judge Louis Bruhn, City Judge Raymond Mino, Sullivan County Judge Lawrence Cook, and former County Judge William Kelly.

Serves 170,000

George J. Johnson, who has been the manager of the local office for the past eight years, informed the press that the office now services approximately 170,000 persons and develops in excess of 70 new claims per week. There are more than 5,000 people receiving monthly checks through the Kingston District

Action Is Requested On Traffic

School Yard Car Parking Proposed

A bid for $200,000 to be raised by tax anticipation notes, like approval of the 1957 budget, was deferred last night by the Common Council, which also heard a bid for prompt action to relieve area traffic congestion, and proposals that would make the mayor a member of the water and fire boards.

A request by Building Inspector William H. Swart to attend a New York training school in February was defeated 11-2, but it was indicated before the meeting ended that reconsideration is possible at the recessed meeting Jan. 8.

Changing the name of Hope street to Overlook Drive was approved, and a claim of $40,000 by Laura M., and Walter T. Elston, of 225 Manor avenue, against the city, for injuries suffered by Mrs. Elston in a fall, was referred to the corporation counsel.

School Parking Proposed

A letter outlining a proposal by Alderman Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward for part-time use of the grounds of School No. 7 for parking, was read and filed. It was addressed to Robert H. Herzog, president of the Board of Education.

Prompt action on projects that would facilitate traffic movement in and around the city including the arterial route plan and routes connecting with the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge was proposed in a letter from the Chamber of Commerce, which was referred to the traffic committee.

Change Routine on Notes

A letter from City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell asked for authorization of the tax anticipation notes to give the city $200,-

February 12 is the date of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

President George J. Silkworth, today said the banquet committee is making arrangements to get an outstanding speaker and will announce more details in the near future.

Five Stores Burn Today in Rome Shopping Area

Rome, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—A fire which destroyed five stores of a 16-store shopping center early today unofficially was estimated to have caused nearly one million dollars in damage.

Officials of the shopping center refused to estimate the loss, but a spokesman for the Market Basket Supermarket said damage to his store would probably reach $250,000.

Nine Shops Saved

Firemen, battling in near-zero weather, save nine other businesses in the one-story, concrete building, which was 600 feet in length.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

General Alarm Sounded

The fire began in a supermarket in the Black River Boulevard shopping center on Rome's outskirts. It spread through a department store, ice cream parlor and a children's clothing store before reaching a fire wall.

A general alarm was sounded. Fire units from Griffiss Air Force Base here joined the battle.

The five-store area covers about one-half the shopping center, which was opened in 1951 and has expanded since then.

Firemen Fight Flames Fanned by Gusty Wind

Smoke; Water Damage 2 Food Supply Storehouses; Volunteer Sills Injured

Fanned by a gusty southeast wind, a two-alarm fire of undetermined origin completely gutted the Emile Taiclet and Son cardboard box factory, 483 Hasbrouck avenue, late Wednesday night as one fireman was overcome by smoke and received a head injury.

Fire department officials had not estimated the damage at noon today but Emile G. Taiclet who, with his father, Emile E., operate the box factory, placed the loss at more than $200,000.

Suffers Head Injury

Joseph E. Sills Jr., of 94 Downs street, a member of the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., one of the four volunteer companies which assisted the city's paid firemen in battling the four-hour blaze, was overcome by smoke and struck on the left side of the head by an unknown object.

Mr. Sills was removed to Kingston Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Mortimer B. Downer. His condition at the hospital today was listed as "apparently fair."

Felled by Explosion

Capt. Foster Winfield, of the Wicks Engine Co., said Sills was helping carry hose line in the front of the building where there was an explosion near the front door which knocked him unconscious "when some object hit him on the left side of the head."

The two-story brick building, owned by Richard Passerini, president of Passwell Food Products Co., Inc., 438 Hasbrouck avenue, the Kaplan Bag Co., located on the Prince street side, and the lodge rooms of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose. The building also contains a storage room used by the Passwell company.

To Check Food Supplies

Deputy Chief Harold Sanford said today the Greenhouse and Passwell sections of the building sustained only slight smoke and water damage while the Moose Club escaped damage.

He said the Ulster County Board of Health was scheduled to make an inspection this afternoon to determine if any food products had been damaged by the smoke. A spokesman for the Passwell company said their storage room contained 23 barrels of olives, but "we usually have a larger supply on hand there."

10 Pieces of Equipment

Ten pieces of fire equipment fought the stubborn blaze which was discovered at 10:30 p. m. by William Long, a watchman employed by the Board of Public Works at its city barn across the street.

All off-duty firemen were summoned after the first and second alarms were sounded from Box 5111, Foxhall avenue and Prince street, at 10:51 p. m.

They were assisted by men and equipment from the Union, Cordts, Wicks and Rapid hose companies. The Excelsior Hose Company was called at 11:30 p. m. to cover at the Wiltwyck Station.

Chief James M. Brett said today the cause of the fire had not been determined and the damage was officially unestimated. Firemen were still engaged in wetting down operations this morning.

Taiclet Gives Estimate

Mr. Taiclet, who estimated the damage to his factory at more than $200,000, said the building contained 18 pieces of machinery and vast quantities of cardboard used in the manufacture of boxes. Fifteen persons were employed by the factory, he said.

The firefighting was made perilous by the low four-degree temperature which caused water from hose streams, removed a distance from the heat of the blaze, to freeze when it hit the building and street. The cold also caused slippery underfooting and many firemen reported their coats ice-caked from water.

Wind Fans Flames

The firefighting operations were directed by Chief Brett and Deputy Chiefs Sanford, George Matthews and Howard Myers. Deputy Sanford said the fire was coming out the windows and the downstairs section was involved in flame on the firemen's arrival. He said a strong southeast wind, which whipped the flames, made it more difficult to fight the fire.

It was learned today from fire department records that the same building was involved in a two-alarm fire on July 16, 1940 at 8:30 p. m. That fire was confined to a foundry owned by William Lawton at 83 Prince street, located on the south side of the building. The foundry is no longer in existence.

Brett Praises Firemen

Chief Brett said he was tremendously gratified by "the complete response of volunteer firemen throughout the city." He said they were to be commended for sacrificing the warmth of their homes "on such a bitter cold night to assist us."

The chief also praised the paid firemen "for a job well done and another outstanding example of the competency and zealousness of the men in our department."

Neighbors Serve Coffee

He also expressed his appreciation to neighboring residents for their donations coffee, cake and sandwiches throughout the night while the firemen were battling the blaze.

Lt. Robert F. Murphy directed a police detail at the scene. The detail included Sgt. Charles Scholar Heating Firm Buys Site On N. Front St.

Joseph Scholar and Son of 65 North Front street have purchased the two-story stone building at 76-78 North Front street for possible future expansion, it was announced today.

The building was purchased from Sam Kenik and Jacob Lipschutz. Glenwood Clothes, which now occupies the building, will continue in its present location.

Joseph Scholar Jr., said the firm, which handles appliances, heating and air conditioning, had no immediate plans for use of the colonial stone structure. Their business has been increasing in recent years, however, and the new building will be available if needed.

Scholar and Son was established by Mr. Scholar Sr., in 1933. It was located at 714 Broadway and was known at that time as the Kalamazoo Sales and Services Co.

In 1946, still under the same name, it was moved to its present location. The present name was adopted in the late forties.

Scholar and Son has for many years handled the Kalamazoo stove and furnace line. It also handles General Motors products, including the Frigidaire line, and is the exclusive representative for Magic Chef products.

The building, occupied by Glenwood Clothes, was formerly the Kingston Used Furniture Co.

Lower Ulster Tax Rate Is Estimated at $42.98

The town of Ulster tax rate this year will be approximately $42.98 per thousand, $1.84 less than last year, Supervisor Percy Bush announced at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the town board Wednesday night.

The tax rate last year was $44.81—broken down into $24.83 per thousand for highway tax and $19.98 for general tax.

Mr. Bush estimates that it will be $42.98 this year—which would break down into $23.78 for highway tax and $19.19 for general tax.

The highway tax will be approximately $1:05 per thousand less than last year and the general tax 79 cents per thousand less.

This does not include "extras," such as fire, water or lighting taxes, however.

The temporary appointment of Ellsworth Edwards of Esopus avenue as water superintendent for the newly created town of Ulster water district was also announced. His salary will be $3,600 a year.

The water tax will be approximately $4.87 per thousand for residents in the new water district.

Ike May Make Plea for Standby Troop Authority Before Congress on Friday

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—House Speaker Rayburn said today President Eisenhower will address a joint session of Congress either tomorrow or Saturday with his plea for standby authority to use U. S. military force in the Middle East in the event of Soviet aggression.

The President will deliver his message tomorrow if the Senate is organized and ready to meet with the House, Rayburn told newsmen. Otherwise, the two branches will hold a session Saturday to receive the President.

Rayburn said it is doubtful that the President will appear in person next Thursday to deliver his State of the Union message.

Meanwhile, Rep. Burdick (R.-N. D.) challenged the constitutionality of the President's Middle East proposal. He contended Congress could not delegate the war making power vested in it by the constitution.

In a statement introduced into the record at the opening House session, Burdick said that with the requested authority Eisenhower could start war without coming to Congress.

"We had better stay with the Constitution," Burdick said. "It wouldn't take the President three hours to get a declaration of war any time the facts warranted it."

Eisenhower gave the Middle East matter high priority as Congress got under way in the new session.

His secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, told congressional leaders yesterday the situation in that area "is highly dangerous" and the "Soviet Union may well move to expand its own influence" there.

Whether Eisenhower's address to a joint session will come tomorrow, or early next week, depends on how quickly the Senate and House can get organized and extend him a formal invitation.

The resolution Eisenhower seeks, as outlined in tentative form by Dulles, would:

1. Authorize the President to "undertake programs of military and economic cooperation with free nations in the general area of the Middle East in order to strengthen and defend the independence of those nations."

2. Authorize the spending of 400 million dollars in economic aid to the Middle East over a period of two years beginning next July 1.

Those terms of the resolution, still in tentative form, were described in a statement released by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with Dulles' approval after Dulles met with its members and Senate leaders for more than two hours in a closed-door night session.

"The secretary viewed the resolution as a deterrent to aggression and as a positive action on behalf of peace," the statement said. "Without the resolution, he thought the danger of war would be increased."

Earlier, Dulles spent more than an hour with a similar group from the House.

Afterward, Rep. Gordon (D-Ill), chairman-designate of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said "We've got to do all we can to go along with the admin-

Teamster Records Are Probed By Referee at Local Hearing

Production of membership cards and records from the Yonkers office of Teamsters' Local 445, took up most of the day before Official Referee Christopher J. Heffernan Wednesday in the injunction action brought to determine the validity of the rank and file slate of officers of the Local.

Theodore Daley, Poughkeepsie, who was elected secretary-treasurer of the local in December 1955, leads the move to establish validity of his election and that of the other "rank and file" officers elected at that time. The election held over a year ago ousted the old regime which Daley alleges had been running the Local in disregard to membership wishes.

Among those ousted were Francis Lester Stickel, secretary-treasurer, and Philip Masiello, business agent, who were convicted of conspiracy to extort money from companies with which the union dealt. It was charged they had conspired to extort $64,000 from trucking firms served by the union, and that even after conviction Stickel continued to maintain control of the local. It was charged Stickel and Masiello extorted money under threat of calling a strike.

During the trial Wednesday, Francis Martocci, attorney with Robert Ortale, for the rank and file slate of officers, told Referee Heffernan that he would show

English Classes Are Established For Hungarians

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2 (AP) — Every Hungarian refugee who settles in New York state will be provided promptly with an opportunity to learn English, the State Education Commissioner said today.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr. reported that communities in which Hungarian refugees had arrived already were organizing Americanization classes for instruction in English and "the principles of our American way of life."

Allen said in a telegram to Tracy Voorhees, chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee on Hungarian Refugees, that adult public education progarms in 610 communities of the state "are ready and eager to aid."

Announced over the holiday weekend was a plan of Black-Clawson Co. of Hamilton, Ohio, which also has plants in Watertown and Fulton, to offer jobs to Hungarian refugees who are skilled technicians.

Leonard Brice, director of industrial relations, said Monday he would visit the Camp Kilmer, N. J., refugee center this week.

He said his company, which manufactures papermaking machinery, could use up to 100 men. He added that most of those hired would go to the New York plants.

Tallamy Staying On Thruway Job To Month's End

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP) — Bertram D. Tallamy, chosen by President Eisenhower to head the federal government's new highway program, will remain as New York's Thruway Authority chairman until the end of January.

Gov. Harriman's office announced the plan while Harriman and Tallamy lunched together Wednesday.

Eisenhower has not nominated Tallamy formally. When the nomination is made, it must be confirmed by the Senate.

An aide to Harriman declined to say whether the governor had decided on a successor in the Thruway post. Tallamy, 54, has held the $19,500-a-year job since 1950. He applied last month for retirement benefits.

Eisenhower announced in October that he had selected Tallamy to direct the 33-billion-dollar federal program. The post pays $20,000 a year.

Percy Holding Files On Probe Is Report

Riverhead, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP) —Former Suffolk County Dist. Atty. George W. Percy Jr. reportedly has refused to surrender papers on a grand jury investigation of alleged corruption in the county to his successor, John P. Cohalan.

Percy and Cohalan agreed yesterday that the grand jury files be locked in a bank vault. But, newspapers reported, when Cohalan demanded keys to the file, Percy refused and said the cabinets will remain in the bank until Cohalan is superceded by a special prosecutor.

Jacob K. Javits, who is leaving the office of state attorney general to become U. S. senator, said yesterday he and Gov. Averell Harriman have not agreed on a choice for special district attorney but indicated he expected agreement in a few days.

Percy, a Democrat, was defeated for district attorney last November by Cohalan, a Republican. The papers contain material gathered in the inquiry conducted under Percy's supervision from the time of his interim appointment last March as successor to Republican Harry C. Brenner.

CARRYING MORE SAFELY

Because the prospect of fatalities is inherently greater in air travel accidents than in rail transport, attention naturally centers on safty performance in commercial aviaton.

With only the final days of 1956 not officially tabulated the unofficial estimates of the Civil Aeronautics Administration indicate that this year was safer in the air than the remarkably safe 1955.

For the scheduled airlines flying within the United States, the estimates are 0.62 fatalities per 100 million passenger miles flown. To afford a comparison, the rate for motor car traffic usually runs around seven fatalities per 100 million miles. In 1955 domestic scheduled flying, it was 0.76.

American-flag lines flying overseas in 1956 had no passenger or crew fatalities at all. Many will recall the remarkable Pacific ocean rescue of all who were aboard a ditched Pan-American plane this fall.

The non-scheduled carriers, often treated somewhat harshly in public comment, haven't had a passenger fatality either on domestic or foreign runs in more than 1.4 billion revenue passenger miles flown since mid-November of 1955.

On all counts, then, this was a fine safety year in the air. The record is all the more distinguished when it is realized that it was accomplished in a period of steadily rising traffic volume. All the airlines merit congratulations.

Any weakling can put off until tomorrow what he should do today. It takes a really strong minded fellow to get out of doing it entirely.

HE WORKS FOR ALL PEOPLE

One of the things which distinguishes President Eisenhower as a man and a leader is his imaginative concern for people. He demonstrated this quietly the other day in a decision not too widely noted.

The President originally had sent his personal plane to London to bring visiting Indian Prime Minister Nehru to this country. Later he had him taken back across the Atlantic the same way.

Normally, the specially built plane would have been flown home empty of passengers. But Mr. Eisenhower ordered it diverted to Munich, Germany, to pick up a load of Hungarian refugees for transport to America.

Since this is the ship that carries the President almost every place he flies, its maintenance in perfect condition is a matter of the most vital security. But Ike waived security red tape and turned the craft into a "refugee bus."

History's verdict on Mr. Eisenhower as President is of course a long way off. But its verdict on him as a humanitarian is already in.

The one temptation too many people with strong will power can't resist is boasting about their will power.

CALCULATED ATTACK

Moscow's attacks on America, laying responsibility for the Hungarian revolution on the Washington doorstep, seem to have gotten more reaction from both official and unofficial Washington than they deserve. After all of the years of cold war, American officials should have learned more about Russian propaganda for immediate foreign policy aims.

The recent Russian outbursts are not mere accusations. They should also be seen as defensive measures calculated to hold back the West in general, and the United States in particular, from giving more aid, encouragement and support to the enslaved people of the Russian empire.

In addition, these charges are part of a blackmail against enslaved people who want to be free. Finally, these accusations help to confuse the real issues and to attract as much attention as possible away from these real issues to phony ones.

When will our officials learn these simple facts of Russian propaganda, and cease being defensive in striving seriously, and sometimes solemnly, to answer patent lies?

THE MIDDLE EAST

Whereas the new Eisenhower Policy of intervention in the Middle East is probably the best that could be formulated at this time, the question must be asked why, if the United States in the end would have to assume the full burden of responsibility for the Middle East, was it necessary to push the British and the French out of that area.

The realistic answer undoubtedly is that our policy-makers believed that whereas Great Britain and France were unpopular as imperialistic countries, the United States could impede the enormous progress that Soviet Russia was making through its Egyptian agent, Nasser. Thus the British and the French were forced out of Egypt by the decision of the United States but that, in no measure, stopped the Russian advance.

Nor did the United Nations organization display any major capacity either in Egypt or in Hungary to arrest Soviet aggression. In Hungary, the United Nations collapsed altogether even suspending or dissolving or abandoning its commission of observers. In Egypt, the token force which separates Egypt from Israel has been unable to stop raids by the fedayeen bandits; the clearing of the Suez Canal moves slowly and Soviet Russia makes marked progress in Egypt and Syria.

The sacrifice of Great Britain and France to the policy of using the United Nations in a capacity for which it is not ready and to support a Russian agent in the hope of winning him over, has proved to be costly to the United States. Unfortunately, these futile moves gained a measure of popularity at the time they were committed, first, because they were done by order of Eisenhower; secondly, because numerous persons still believe that it is fun to twist the British lion's tail; and thirdly, because those who are so conditioned disliked to witness the conquest of Egypt by Israel which Moshe Dayan's army could easily have done.

There was another reason, probably a more important one than has been mentioned. It is that emotionally the whole American people are opposed to war. They have had enough war. They have consciously or subconsciously reached the conclusion that World War II was a tragic error; that the Korean War was futile and that the next war will be disastrous.

On the other hand, in a few short months, two historic phenomena have become clarified: one, that Soviet Russia is not invincible as has been proved beyond doubt by the heroism of the Hungarian people; secondly, that Soviet Russia desires no peace, will push into any area where there is a power vacuum, and that the Middle East has become the current danger zone.

This being so, President Eisenhower has formulated a new policy which no matter how it is sugar-coated to be somewhat diplomatic, puts the United States in the Middle East on a war basis. It is not necessary for all the Arab countries to accept our armed assistance. Even if only one country accepts it, we shall be in that area in full force. Iraq will undoubtedly accept our aid; Iran will seek it; Israel will desire it. And the Suez Canal will have to be opened to world trade under international supervision or Nasser will be dealing with something stronger and more shapely than the United Nations mixed police force of embarrassed token contingents.

This is what the President's new policy means and it is a reaction as much to the Hungarian and the Polish situations as to that in the Middle East because when an empire put together by force cannot exercise sufficient force to hold its periphery, it is beginning to break up. That is the time to hit at it and that is what the President is clearly doing. He has, in the new, indirect manner which controls diplomatic action, presented Soviet Russia with an ultimatum which, if it rejects it, will involve its satellites and agents in a war.

Curious, that this should have happened so soon after Nehru's visit. The Kashmir merchant seems not to have done too well at Gettysburg where, it was presumed, he would do the snake-charming act. Or, maybe, he did not try too hard. Maybe he discovered that Ike was not a pushover and has, despite tranquilizers, a very bad temper. Who knows? We may never know except as actions and decisions disclose the atmosphere.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

LIMITING FACTORS IN REHABILITATION

Yesterday we were discussing the fact that many elderly persons, those over 65, who are suffering from a chronic, incurable illness can be helped by rehabilitation measures but we must face the fact that there are certain limiting factors which must be taken into consideration so that much disappointment and useless effort may be avoided.

Drs. G. Gullickson, Jr., and F. Kettle, University of Minnesota Medical School, tell us that not all elderly patients with chronic disease can benefit from remedial programs of rehabilitation. It is necessary to exclude those cases in which the treatment program cannot keep up with the breakdown changes occurring as a result of aging. The limiting factors are outlined as follows:

1. Senility. In senile patients the living essence of the cells cannot meet the requirements of active existence and the organic structures of the body wear out. In this sense, it is the age of the body as shown in its organs and cells that is the important matter and not the actual age of the person in years. We have all seen a young body and a young mind in elderly persons and an old mind and body in a middle-aged one.

2. Medical complications. These include active bleeding within the brain, acute heart failure, cancer, severe kidney disease and the like. Chronic heart failure need not keep a person from being helped so long as the activity provided is within the power of his heart.

3. Loss of learning ability. This is probably the most common stumbling block in a rehabilitation program. The inability of the patient to remember instructions which have been given from one day to the next is an almost insurmountable obstacle in achieving any increased measure of self sufficiency.

4. Psychosis (mental disorder). Depending on the type and degree, a psychosis can be a major factor in the failure of a rehabilitation program. As we all know, some senile patients tend to become childish in their behavior and thinking.

5. Motivation. This is the keystone of any rehabilitation program and is divided into two main types: internal and external. Internal is when the motive to help one's self arises within the individual. External is when someone outside must provide the stimulus. Internal motivation must be present or helped to arise from without if rehabilitation is to succeed.

We must be careful not to concentrate on a patient's disabilities rather than his abilities because if we concentrate on what he cannot do we fix and confirm his hopeless attitude toward his handicap. The patient must be helped to shift his awareness from his disabilities toward his assets such as remaining musculature, intellectual capacities and relationships with others. Accomplishing this shift requires tact, understanding, perseverence not only from the physician but from the patient's family and others.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA)—Waiting for President Eisenhower to drop his legislative shoes in his inaugural, state of the union, budget and economic messages, politicians on Capitol Hill lie awake nights or do daydreaming about what they think will happen in the next session of Congress.

There have been some predictions that the new session will be a White House-congressional love feast, giving the President most of the things he asks for.

More realistic appraisals put the length of the honeymoon at no more than a month. This is the time it will take for the President to send up his messages and for the new Congress to organize its committees. Then the fun will begin.

There will be some opening skirmishes on changing the Senate rules to limit filibusters. But it will be a surprise if this much-needed reform musters enough votes to pass.

Thereafter the Congress will proceed about as usual. That means many hearings, but little or no action till March.

EVEN WITHOUT the presidential messages, there is enough unfinished business to make the 85th Congress a hot session. Many of these holdover issues have been given new importance by developments since the election, both at home and overseas.

Typical is amendment of the immigration act. President Eisenhower has sent Congress several special messages on this. There were five amendments pending when Congress adjourned. With the Hungarian crisis to deal with, immigration legislation becomes more important than ever. But whether this lever is strong enough to pry loose a liberalization of the McCarran-Walter Act is doubtful.

Extension of the foreign aid program may find increased support in the new Congress, however. The reasons are found in the anti-Russian revolts in Poland and Hungary, the tense situation in the Suez Canal area, the oil shortages and strained financial conditions in western Europe.

These major developments in foreign affairs also influence many domestic issues which the new Congress must consider. For instance, any hope of reducing the U. S. national defense budget has now gone glimmering.

AN INCREASED federal budget reduces the prospect for tax reduction, though there is strong support among returning congressmen to provide tax relief for small business and grant larger tax exemptions for low-income families in particular.

Increased government spending has an inflationary effect on the whole economy. Coupled with increases in the cost of living index, the wholesale price index, increases in interest rates just since the election and tight-money situation in general, this development could become dangerous.

Dealing with all these inflationary pressures is possibly the biggest job Congress has in 1957.

The government's contribution to this inflation is found in many programs.

Increased government spending is inevitable next year under several laws passed by the last Congress. These include the soil bank program, the new highway program, aid to local communities on small watershed projects for both irrigation and power.

CONTINUING DROUGHT in the southwestern plains states points to the likelihood of further government relief measures.

Since some form of a federal aid school bill seems certain to pass and since there is revived interest in stepping up the government's atomic power program, still further increases in government spending are indicated. Both were defeated last year.

Inflationary pressures can be felt even in some of the labor legislation which Congress will probably consider.

A new drive is expected to increase minimum wage rates above the $1 an hour set by the last Congress, and to broaden coverage. Organized labor leaders' desire to shorten the work week from 40 to 35 hours would have the same effect, if this proposal makes any headway in collective bargaining.

In only one area is there really good news. Increased automobile production is reducing unemployment. It thereby reduces some of the demand for aid to last year's depressed areas.

Today in World Affairs

Rayburn Credited for Unity In Congress on Middle East

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 3 — The statesmanship of Speaker Sam Rayburn, Democrat, is responsible for the unity with which leaders in Congress have greeted President Eisenhower's request for a joint resolution authorizing the Executive to utilize the armed forces of the United States in certain contingencies in the Middle East.

Mr. Rayburn took a broad view of the problems facing America in the Middle East and, after listening to the President's exposition, he said then and there to his colleagues that, when a man of the military background of Mr. Eisenhower felt that such authority was necessary, it was up to Congress to grant him that power. This is the very spirit of co-operation which is so essential these days to the successful evolution of American policy in world affairs. It is an example of leadership which cannot but help the rest of the world understand that all political parties in this country are willing to see great sacrifices made to prevent another global war from breaking out.

In the lengthy discussion between the President and Congressional leaders on New Year's Day at the White House there were some interesting questions asked and answered. One of them related to the suggestion that the President already has the power to act. Another comment was that, when the emergency arose, the President could come to Congress and promptly get a resolution of authority.

But Mr. Eisenhower disposed of both points very effectively. He declared that he had the utmost respect for the constitutional prerogatives of Congress in relation to the use of the armed forces and that he believes it would be better if the Executive were given explicitly the anthority to act instantly in an emergency.

To Let World Know

Mr. Eisenhower furthermore pointed out that the object of the present move was to let the world know exactly what the United States would do in certain circumstances and that it was important to proclaim the fact that Congress and the Executive both had authorized the use of American armed forces to ward off aggression in the Middle East. Any other course could involve doubt as to what Congress might or might not do, and it could conceivably lead to a miscalculation by an aggressor as to the nature of American policy, as has happened before.

As for the argument that the President already has the authority to use the armed forces of the United States and could act in an emergency and then ask for ratification by Congress, if necessary, this is an oft-debated point. There are precedents which have occurred in the last 100 years under which the Chief Executive has ordered American armed forces used in foreign countries, but primarily these have been confined to the landing of Marines or the sending of warships to ports where American lives and property have been threatened by local disturbances.

Korea Precedent

The most important precedent in which Presidential action occurred in a large military undertaking without a resolution of authority being requested from Congress was in June 1950. Then, in pursuance of a decision by the Security Council of the United Nations, President Truman ordered American troops into action in Korea. At no time thereafter was a resolution requested so that the step taken could legally be ratified by Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower in his campaign speeches in 1952 referred to the fact that Presidential action, involving Americans in a war which is the third largest in the world in the last thirty-five years, was taken without action by Congress. There were some hasty consultations with a few Congressional leaders in advance but there wasn't time for Mr. Truman to get a resolution of authority passed. This, however, doesn't explain the unwillingness of the Truman administration to ask Congress for a resolution of ratification after the Korean War began, which is what President Wilson did in 1914 immediately after he ordered American Marines—at four o'clock one morning—to land in Vera Cruz.

Deterrent Effect

Mr. Eisenhower, in brief, wants the world to know now that America will interpose her military strength against Communist aggression in the Middle East, and he believes an overwhelming vote in Congress on that subject will have a deterrent influence, just as the adoption of the same type of resolution has helped to prevent another war in and around Formosa.

There was some comment at the meeting of the Congressional leaders about the fact that the news of the new plan was "leaked" to reporters in Washington before chairmen of Congressional committees knew about it. The answer is that the news "leaked" first from Europe. This often happens when the United States endeavors to elicit informal expressions of opinion on forthcoming policy from diplomats abroad. When it does occur, the State Department feels the necessity of giving promptly a background explanation to the American press in order to prevent fragmentary or erroneous interpretations contained in European news dispatches from being widely accepted in this country.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 31—The Riesel maiming case is bound to bring about an expose of David Dubinsky's autocratic reign over the entire industry which supplies apparel, outer and inner, to most of the women and girl children of the United States. Victor Riesel, a syndicated columnist dealing with union affairs, was blinded last April by acid thrown in his eyes as he left a Broadway all-night restaurant. Riesel is a close personal friend of Dubinsky.

Dubinsky, like many other tyrants of unionism, holds the presidency of his union, the International Ladies Garment Workers, in life tenure. It will take a political or violent revolution to kick him out. He has been president since 1932. He is swollen with importance and power and holds a mysterious, undefined authority in the foreign political service of our national government which is supposed to be the exclusive business of the State Department.

Long prior to 1953, Dubinsky realized that there were crooks in the official brackets of his vast organization. So Riesel made advances to individuals who knew the underworld but were not of the underworld themselves, and seemed competent to investigate after the manner of official commissioners such as state governors often designate with plenary powers to subpoena witnesses and books and report facts. Riesel's inquiries led indirectly to the creation of a bureau of investigation within the International headquarters of the union in New York. However, Dubinsky himself made all the arrangements.

Brief announcement of this innovation appeared in the papers at the time. This bureau had the power of subpoena in Dubinsky himself, who promised to produce or make subordinates produce any document which the bureau might request and to compel his subordinates to come clean upon demand. However, the bureau was not empowered to conduct trails or impose sentence. Its duties ended with the preparation of factual reports, without recommendations.

The worst spot in Dubinsky's realm was Local 102 of the Garment Workers. This local is composed of about 1,000 truck drivers and helpers and is known as the Truckers' Local. Actually, the jurisdiction properly belongs to Dave Beck's Brotherhood of Teamsters, but it is so bad that Beck did not press for jurisdiction and the dues and other rake-off which go with jurisdiction. He has troubles enough with racketeers in his own empire. Beck made a few weak passes at Local 102 and Dubinsky always pleaded with him to take it easy because the trucks and their crews are the greatest power in Dubinsky's autocratic might which has permitted the accumulation of a treasury vaguely estimated at more than $150 million. With theis weapon, Dubinsky can close down the whole industry.

Sam Berger, the president-boss of Local 102, is immune to Dubinsky's discipline. He works or "cooperates" with tough personalities who own and lease fleets of trucks, with crews, to the garment manufacturers. This transportation is indispensable because the industry is scattered over the metropolitan area extending from Boston to Philadelphia and back inland. Relatively few garments are created from the design and the uncut cloth to the finished product, ready for the retail racks, in one plant. Most of the work is done by jobbers and contractors who are hard-pressed under the competition of a business measuring costs and profits in pennies and fierce union discipline. The bankruptcy rate is very high and Dubinsky sometimes "rescues" a faltering firm just to keep the employes' jobs going. He has arbitrary power to grant special concessions.

Trucks are all-important not only to the continuing life of the business but to the continuing power of Dubinsky's autocracy. But by the same process, Berger and his friends, including Johnny Dio, the principal defendant in the Riesel maiming case, are all powerful over Dubinsky. Riesel occasionally made references to the bad character of racketeers controlling the trucks of Local 102. But his friend Dubinsky would not move to throw them out.

Dubinsky, the "committee on ethics" of the AFL-CIO, and, occasionally, Riesel, sounded off against unethical practices. But even after the "facts" of 102 were laid before Dubinsky by his own bureau of investigation, confirming information long in his possession, Dave let matters rest. One reason was that it was almost impossible to get better men to take the places of the racketeers. The men themselves, their wives and their children, would not take the risk. Their fears were justified by the attack on Riesel, who was blinded forever in an instant.

The specific grievance which prompted this remains to be proven. But the fact will be developed with terrible dramatic emphasis that the private empire of a political henchman of the State Department under Truman and Eisenhower, is the body which is host to this hideous cancer even while Dubinsky prates of "ethics."

Friendly Persuasion

Milwaukee (AP)—Hotels and motels apparently can get along with each other, after all. At least that's the impression given by several delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Hotel Assn. here. "If you mentioned motels at a hotel convention five years ago you would have been thrown out," one hotel man said. "But there's an excellent relationship between us today. When the motels are full they've been sending us their business, and vice versa. We accept calls from all neighboring motels and they accept ours."

Teller Accused Of False Report About Holdup

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—A 23-year-old bank teller has been accused of falsely reporting he was held up at his teller's window and had to turn over $4,750 in cash.

The teller, Daniel Laurino Jr. of Brooklyn, will be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner.

The FBI announced Laurino's arrest last night at the offices of the Manufacturers Trust Co. in the Wall street district.

Last Dec. 19, Laurino was working at one of the bank's branches in Brooklyn. On that day he rushed into a superior's office and said a man had pushed a note through his cage demanding $5,000. The note assertedly said another teller's wife and child would be killed if the money was not handed over.

Laurino said he handed over what cash was available. An audit showed $4,750 missing.

The FBI gave no further details.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—State Safety Co-ordinator James Barrett predicts a final tabluation will show that about 2,200 were killed in highway accidents in New York state in 1956.

The 1955 total was 2,226. The record year was 1941, when 2,661 died on the state's highways.

Barrett said yesterday the toll for the first 11 months of 1956 was 1,957. He said complete statistics for the year were being compiled.

The co-ordinator said 75 traffic deaths in the 11-day holiday season just ended was "one of the worst experiences we have ever had." In the 1952 holiday season, which also had four-day weekends, the toll was 48.

Eight Are Rescued

Chamonix, France, Jan. 3 (AP)—Daring helicopter pilots today snatched eight marooned Alpinists from the snowswept slopes of Mt. Blanc but gave up hope for two more frostbitten climbers marooned on Europe's highest peak for 12 days. The rescue pilots had hoped to hover above the pair — Frenchman Jean Vincedon, 23, and Belgian Francois Henry, 24, and lower men down to put them in baskets hanging from the aircraft, but this proved impossible. Both may already have died. Suffering from extreme frostbite, they were bundled in sleeping bags in the wreck of a helicopter which crashed earlier trying to save them.

WAR—EGYPTIAN VERSION—Future historians may believe that the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt was repulsed with heavy losses to the invaders if they judge by this new Egyptian stamp. It commemorates the recent fighting by showing three Egyptian "resistance" fighters, one a grenade-toting girl, charging forward as enemy parachute troops are slain on the Port Said beach and an enemy ship burns in the background.

Delay of Judgment

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Harold P. Burke has granted a delay of judgment on a criminal contempt citation he returned last week against the Schine theatre interests. Burke yesterday agreed to delay judgment until arguments in support of a defense motion for a new trial could be heard. The request for a delay of judgment and for a new trial were made in a long petition filed with the court yesterday by Frank G. Raichle of Buffalo, an attorney for the Schine interests. He told the court he would be unable to present his arguments for a new trial before Jan. 23.

Tough Policy Cuts Traffic Deaths in Connecticut Area

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 3 (AP)—Connecticut's traffic deaths fell from 324 in 1955 to 284 in 1956, the first year of Gov. Abraham Ribicoff's get-tough policy for speeders. Ribicoff, who received the report Wednesday from the motor vehicles department, commented: "With death on the highway rising disastrously all over the United States, Connecticut has reversed the national trend." Ribicoff ordered the motor vehicles department last year to suspend automatically for 30 days the licenses of any driver convicted of speeding. He said then that if his order saved only a single life, he would consider it worthwhile. "With the saving of 40 lives in 1956, a reduction of 12.3 per cent from the 1955 motor vehicle death toll," he said today, "we can say the program is definitely worthwhile."

Foster Promoted

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2 (AP) — Gov. Harriman announced today the re-designation of three Supreme Court justices to the Appellate Division. They are: Sydney F. Foster, Liberty, re-designated presiding justice of the Third Department for a term ending Dec. 31, 1963. Bernard Botein, Manhattan, re-designated associate justice in the First Judicial Department for a term ending Dec. 31, 1961. Henry L. Ughetta, Brooklyn, re-designated associate justice of the Second Judicial Department for a term ending Dec. 31, 1961.

Car Production Is To Be Up in 1957

Detroit, Jan. 3 (AP)—Production of automobiles "will be substantially higher" in 1957 than the 5,800,000 built in 1956, says Ford Motor Co. economist George P. Hitchings.

"With a favorable economic climate," Hitchings said in a New Year's statement, "production could equal or surpass the second best automotive year of 6,700,000 reached in 1950."

Hitching's statement said in part:

"The economy generally is in a strong position as we enter 1957.

"The auto industry will be an expansionary force to the economy in 1957, in contrast to the 1956 experience. * * *.

"Production in 1956 was held below consumption in order to reduce dealers stock levels which had risen rapidly in the latter part of the previous year. This problem will not exist in 1957 because current dealer stocks are, if anything, slightly below a year-end normal.

"Another factor boosting production in 1957 will be increased consumer buying. Our planning has been based on a potential increase of 10 per cent in sales to domestic customers for 1957. New car sales should increase from a normal base at least as fast as the general economy."

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Roast beef, shoved into the background over the holidays, will make a strong comeback this weekend in many supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

Various cuts, ranging from chuck roast to sirloin and porterhouse steaks, will be featured with big type and small prices. One chain in the New York area will have sirloin at 69 cents a pound, as much as 10 cents a pound below the opposition. Chuck and round roasts appear to be the most popular, although ground beef and tongue also are represented.

Most Want Change

"We feel that most people will want some beef after eating all that poultry, and ham, over the holidays," was the comment of one supermarket chain sales executive.

Lamb and pork also will be featured in some stores. Mostly this means leg of lamb or pork chops. One enterprising chain, however, has a "three meals in one" combination sale on lamb with a roast, chops and stew meat all in one package for 29 cents a pound.

Cabbage, potatoes and onions again head the outstanding buy list among vegetables, although supplies of cabbage from nearby fields are light in most areas and cabbage from southern fields is still a bit on the high side. The same is true for potatoes and onions.

Beans, eggplant, escarole and sweet potatoes all are good buys, along with the so-called "root" crops—beets,, carrots, parsnips and turnips—from local fields.

Cauliflower Cheaper

Cauliflower is getting cheaper, but market men still don't rate it a good buy. Increasing supplies from Texas and Florida should bring the price down, however. The same thing is true for brussels sprouts, except that most of the supplies come from California at this time of year.

Celery was a bit high over the holidays but should be less expensive now. Squash, too, is getting more plentiful, particularly the yellow squashes from Florida.

Good Citrus Buys

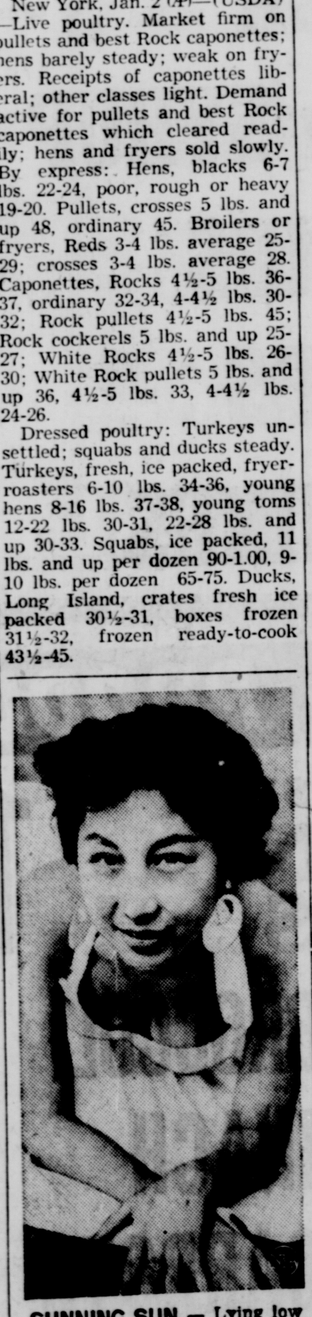

The holidays cut into shipments of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines, making them somewhat more expensive this week, but all three citrus fruits are still rated a good buy by produce men. Limes, however, went up sharply in price because of lower supplies which resulted from rock bottom prices for the small green fruit.

The price of Delicious apples is still high, but other varieties are available at bargain prices where the apples are sold fully ripe and must be eaten in a few days.

Ulster Fruit Demand Seen About Same as Last Year

With consumer income expected to continue at high levels Ulster county fruit growers can look forward to about the same demand as last season for their crops in 1957. At the same time total production of deciduous fruit will not be greatly different from the 1956 crop which was slightly less than produced in '55.

This is the opinion of Prof. B. A. Dominick Jr., of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell and W. H. Palmer, county agricultural agent.

After comparing 'ocal data with the Cornell economist, Mr. Palmer summarized the 1957 outlook for the major fruit crops grown in Ulster county as follows:

In 1957 the New York state apple crop is likely to be larger than the 13.5 million bushel below average crop produced last year. Also the total crop for the country is expected to be moderately higher than last season. In 1956 growers across the country produced 96 million bushels of apples.

The 1956 United States' peach crop totalled 68 million bushels. This is about an average crop, but 30 per cent larger than one year ago. New York peach growers picked a million bushel crop in '56. Production for the state in 1957 probably will be moderately larger than last year, when peach production was 20 per cent below average.

Pear production for the state will not be greatly different from last year's output, according to the agent. The '56 production totalled a half million bushels. This was three per cent higher than the average annual production of the last 10 years for the state.

The anticipated grape production for New York in 1957 is somewhat smaller in size than 1956, when a bumper crop was produced, according to the agent. Last year the state's production totalled 110,000 tons. This was 75 per cent higher than average and 25 per cent larger than 1955.

New York state cherry growers will probably produce a larger crop next season according to the forecast of Mr. Palmer and Prof. Dominick. The '56 crop of 15,200 tons was 22 per cent under the average and less than one-half the 1955 crop.

The sour cherry crop for the country of 103,000 tons was 12 per cent below average and the smallest crop since 1947.

Referring to sweet cheries, the economist said, "The 1957 sweet cherry crop in the state probably will be considerably larger than this past season's crop."

The national crop was 28 per cent below average in size and 40 per cent under the '55 crop. California and Michigan were the only two states that produced more in 1956 than the year previous. Probable decreases in these states are likely to be much more than offset by increases in other states, particularly Washington and Oregon.

Power Failure Ices 8,000 Homes Upstate

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP) — The appeal of automation yesterday left many northern New Yorkers cold.

Power failures ranging up to eight hours in this and nearby communities knocked out automatic furnaces and electric heating units in temperatures that dropped to 11 degrees below zero.

The New York State Electric and Gas Corp. said a broken feeder line and a burned-out transformer caused the power failures. Nearly 8,000 homes were affected.

The utility said communities affected were Plattsburgh, Beekmantown, Cumberland Head, Chazy, West Chazy, Champlain, Mooers, Sciota and Rouses Point.

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—A former employe of a Manhattan ski shop has been held as a material witness in the slaying of 35-year-old Erling Anderson, manager of the sporting goods store. Anderson, from (17 Carlyle Road) Montclair, N. J., was found shot to death Monday afternoon in the Norse House, 57 West 46th street. Police said he apparently had been killed late Friday. Brought in for questioning yesterday was James C. Alexander, 30, a former ski repairman who had worked at the store until Dec. 7. Missing from the store was $1,275 in cash and $979 in checks. Police said Alexander was known to have spent about $1,000 since Saturday.

A few moments after shouting that frantic alarm into the telephone, Mrs. Doris Danehey, 30, and her only child, James, 4 months, perished last night in their three room bungalow. Refugees Going to Utica

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Forty Hungarian refugees are scheduled to leave Camp Kilmer, N. J., today for a bus trip to Utica, N. Y., and a new life in the upstate city. State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin, chairman of the state committee on refugees, said yesterday the refugees would leave Kilmer about 2 p. m. (EST) and should arrive at Utica about 7:30 p. m. Lubin said various Utica hotels have promised rooms on an emergency basis for refugees who are not immediately housed and that Charles Finch, manager of the Utica office of the State Employment Service, is cooperating in finding jobs for the newcomers.

Benson Gets Tip

Denver, Jan. 3 (AP)—Gov. Ed C. Johnson of Colorado sent Secretary of Agriculture Benson yesterday an idea for coming to the rescue of drouth-stricken farmers in the plains states. Johnson suggested the federal government buy up most of the parched land then sell it back to farmers with the stipulation it should never again be plowed. "The dust bowl is facing a major disaster this spring," Johnson said. "The only permanent solution is to return it permanently to grazing. They've put enough money into relief in the area to have paid $100 an acre for that land."

Berlin, Jan. 3 (AP)—Poland has begun the trial of 16 persons accused of rioting in Bydgoszcz, the official east German news agency ADN reported today. The riot took place Nov. 18 after Polish - Soviet negotiations in Moscow resulted in a declaration that Soviet troops would remain in Poland. The rioters—mostly students and youthful workers—set fire to the Bydoszcz (formerly called Bromberg) radio station and fought police and firemen.

Decline in Power Output

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Christmas holidays brought a decline in the nation's electricity output last week, bringing it down from a record peak reached in the previous week. Edison Electric Institute reported today production in the week ended Dec. 29 was 11,196,000,000 kilowatt hours, compared to 12,227,000,000 the week before. This was still 4.1 per cent higher than the corresponding week of last year when output amounted to 10,751,000,000 kilowatt hours. All sections of the country participated in the gain over the year before.

The name of Michigan is said to have come from the Chippewa Indian majiigan," which means "clearing."

Record for Steel Seen

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—The nation's steel mills will set a production record during 1957 as much as 3 million tons better than the 117 million-ton mark established in 1955, the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said Wednesday. Most major steel-consuming industries expect another banner year, the magazine said after conducting a survey of users. Most expect to do as well, or better, than in 1956, when production was estimated at 115 million tons, Iron Age said. The decline from 1955 was largely attributed to last summer's 34-day steel strike. Demand for steel will be complicated by the Suez situation, the magazine said, resulting in all-out construction of oil tankers, record drilling in the oil fields and higher defense spending and stepped-up foreign aid. In addition, the magazine said, "users will be battling to rebuild inventories against the possibility of a real international explosion."

Woodstock News

Two Men Pulled From Yankeetown Pond Ice Break

Woodstock, Jan. 2—Two men were pulled from the icy waters of Yankeetown Pond, Wittenberg, Sunday afternoon, after they fell through the ice while skating.

George Benneyan, 62, and his son, Robert, of Willow, were skating at a spot on the pond about 400 to 500 feet from Tom Shultis' sawmill.

They were first seen struggling in the water by Mrs. Luther Bonesteel who called Nelson Shultis. Mr. Shultis, who had just returned to his home from hunting with Joseph Hawkins, grabbed a hundred feet of rope and some boards from the mill. They were joined by David Van de Bogart. The men were able to place the boards out on the ice and succeeded in getting the rope line to the men who were in about five and a half feet of water. It was estimated that they had been in the water approximately 15 minutes.

They were taken to the home of Mr. Shultis and Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock was called, who treated them for shock and exposure. They were put to bed at the Shultis home for about an hour and a half, after which they returned to their home in Willow.

During rescue operations the Woodstock Fire Company No. 2 engine had been called from Wittenberg, and the elder Mr. Benneyan was so overcome that it was necessary to slide him to the shore across the ice on one of the ladders from the engine.

Mr. Shultis explained that the men had struck a piece of honeycomb ice when they fell through.

Hungarian Relief Concert Reported Well Attended

Woodstock, Jan. 2—Snow and icy roads did not prevent a sizeable audience from attending the concert presented at the town hall Thursday evening for the benefit of Hungarian relief. Woodstock Festival Committee presented the program under the sponsorship of the Ulster County Red Cross.

Miss Shake Vartenissian, soprano, lived up to her reputation as the "Syrian nightingale." "Divinities Du Styx" by Gluck, was especially impressive, and her Armenian songs, which elicited a number of encores, were greeted with warm enthusiasm by the audience.

The opening sonata by Leclair, which was not as brilliant as it might have been, was followed by the Romance in F Major by Beethoven, which aroused a greater warmth in the performing artist, Renato Bonacini, violinist. The artist really stirred the audience with the playing of four violin solos by Respeghi, Kreisler, Wieniawski and Paganini.

Dr. Cohn, cellist, and Ilse Sass, pianist, joined Mr. Bonacini in Beethoven's Trio in B Flat Opus 11, and in spite of the fact that Dr. Cohn and Mr. Bonacini had met only a few hours previously, they played with the assurance of performers who were completely accustomed to each other. In this regard, Miss Sass deserves the greatest credit, for she accompanied both the string players and the singer of the evening.

During the intermission, J. C. van Rijn, president of Rotron Manufacturing Company, delivered a moving speech about the complex situation in Hungary, and those present were generous in their contributions to swell the amount received from the sale of tickets to $248.20. It will be turned over to the International Red Cross, responsible for Hungarian relief inside and outside of Hungary.

This was the final concert for 1956 presented under the auspices of the Woodstock Festival Committee.

Reformed Church Sets Communion Service

Woodstock, Jan. 2—The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be administered at the 11 a. m. service of worship at Dutch Reformed Church, Sunday. The Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor, will conduct the service. A nursery is provided where parents may leave their younger children during the services. Sunday school is at 9:30 a. m.

The Lydian Society meets in the basement Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 2 p. m.

Universal Week of Prayer begins Sunday, and will be observed at the Reformed Church of Woodstock as follows: Monday, Jan. 10, at 8 p. m. "Repent and Be Forgiven," Luke 3; Psalm 51; Romans 5:1-11; Tuesday, Jan. 11, 8 p. m., "Anointed to Preach Good News," Luke 4, Psalm 67, Romans 8:14-19, 28-39; Wednesday, Jan. 12, 8 p. m., "Let Thanksgiving Be an Offering," Luke 5, Psalm 116, II Corinthians 9; Thursday, Jan. 10, 8 p. m., "Bring Others Before Christ," Luke 5:18-39, Psalm 128, Ephesians 6:10-20; Friday, Jan. 11, 8 p. m. "Our Times Are in God's Hands," Luke 7, Psalms 31, Colossians 3:1-17.

The concert under the direction of the Woodstock Music Festival Committee and sponsored by the Ulster County Red Cross Friday evening, netted $248.20 after two items of expense had been deducted. It is anticipated that many who were unable to attend because of inclement weather are ready to contribute to the cause of Hungarian relief and will do so by contributing to the treasurer of the group, Dr. Hans Cohn. Others who may wish to contribute may do so by leaving contributions at the Woodstock Branch of the Bank of Orange County or with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, who is acting as representative of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross in this matter.

Town Board Meets

Woodstock, Jan. 2—The last Town Board meeting of the year was held at the town hall, Monday at 5:30 p. m., for the purpose of closing the books for the year.

Balances remaining in the various accounts are as follows: General fund $17,637.33; welfare fund $569.78; recreation fund $3,698.00; highway fund $3,185.29; water district $8,352.64. These are the true balances of each of the accounts at the close of business for 1956. Of the general fund $8,000 is applied toward the reduction of taxes for 1957.

Town Notes

Woodstock, Jan. 2—Peter Carl, Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carl Bevard of Woodland Valley, was baptized at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church by the Rev. Herald C. Swezy Sunday following the morning service.

Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 sent one engine in response to a chimney fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shute of Shady Monday at 3:10 p. m. The blaze was immediately extinguished.

Sunday at 1 a. m. an engine was called to the home of Neva Shultis on the Bearsville road, for a chimney fire which also was extinguished in a short time.

William Hand, chairman of the March of Dimes drive in the village, has announced that contribution boxes have been distributed to the stores of the local merchants. No committee has been formed for the drive which starts officially on January 31.

Plans for the fund raising show will be announced by Mr. Hand in the near future.

The next regular meeting of Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association to be held at the school Thursday, Jan. 10, will be concerned with the question of Greater Kingston Consolidation. The speakers will be Donald Morehouse, Roy T. Feddes and Norman Hammond.

The meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club will be held Thursday, Jan. 24, a week later than the regular meeting date, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church at 8 p. m. Every member is urged to attend.

Mrs. Emma Goodrich, mother of Mrs. Griffin Herrick, who recently broke her hip, is expected to return home from Kingston Hospital the first week of January.

Saugerties Church Sponsors 6 DP's From East Germany

Six displaced persons from the Eastern Zone of Germany have arrived in Saugerties, according to an announcement made by the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement.

"These six people will be among the last group of people to come under the refugee act, as Congress failed to renew the law at the last session. However," the Rev. Mr. Crossland said, "there will still be many families coming under emergency quotas such as has developed in the Hungarian situation."

"The six people," the Rev. Mr. Crossland said, "are Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Stade and his three sons, Kurt Eckhard, age 9, Hans Peter, age 8, and Wolfgang, age 3. Besides the Stade family, there is Ernest Gerhard. These people, who arrived in the United States Dec. 27, have been living under the most difficult conditions for many years. The Stade family were ordered out of Poland on a five minute notice by the Communists, when all Germans were ordered out. This was nearly 10 years ago, and they have been running ever since."

Came With $39

The Rev. Mr. Crossland added that for the past 2½ years the family has lived in a room about 12 x 12 feet with no running water and no toilet facilities. The Stades arrived in Saugerties Dec. 28 with $39 and three suitcases of belongings. That is all they have.

"Temporarily, Mr. Gerhard is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Junker on Partition street, and the Stades are living in the parish house of the church. It is hoped that an apartment will soon be found for them," the Rev. Mr. Crossland said.

Mr. Stade, who is an electrician, has been employed by the Martin Cantine Co., and it is hoped that Mr. Gerhard, who is 34, will soon be able to find a job.

The members of the congregation and others in the community have been contributing bedding, clothing, tables, chairs and many other things that the family will need to start housekeeping in the next few days. The congregation has also been contributing money for rent and for food, until the family can establish themselves.

Prayers Needed

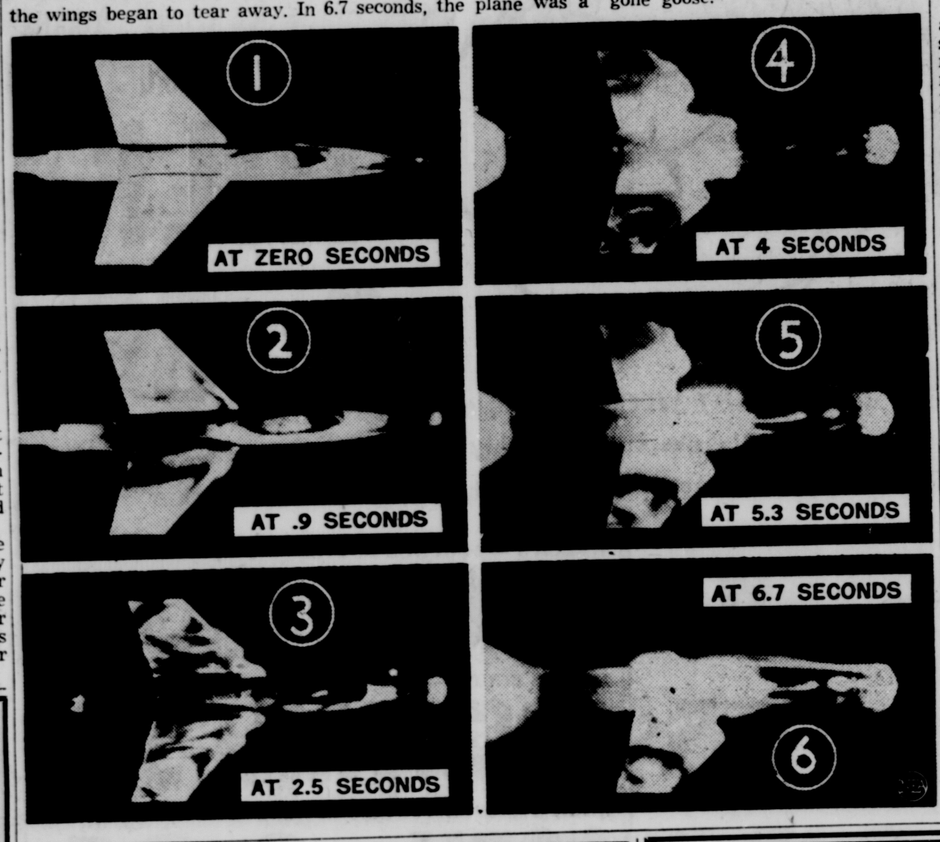

"There are many things that are needed," the Rev. Mr. Crossland concluded, "such as an apartment and a job . . . but most of all these people need our prayers."

Among the many who have helped, we want to especially thank the Sue-Lynn Shop for their gift of clothing for the children, Mrs. Harold Kamp for purchasing new shoes and boots for them and to the Corner Bakery for food.

AT 4,500 MILES PER HOUR

Stainless Steel Test Plane Melts - - -

Stainless steel is generally considered a strong, heat-resisting metal, but the pictures below, numbered in sequence, show that in less than seven seconds a stainless steel model airplane burns up and disintegrates in the heat generated by high speeds. The model was tested in a wind tunnel of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Va., where major research on breaking the "heat barrier" for supersonic planes is done. The model was "flown" at a simulated 4,500 miles per hour. In nine-tenths of a second the wings and nose got red hot and in 2.5 seconds, pieces of the wings began to tear away. In 6.7 seconds, the plane was a "gone goose."

Milk Producers Urged To Settle Differences

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Benson has urged milk-producer groups involved to settle differences on major features of a proposed federal milk marketing order for northern New Jersey.

He ordered the date for resumption of hearings on the order advanced yesterday from Jan. 7 to Feb. 4.

Some groups have urged that an order for northern New Jersey be coordinated with one now covering the New York metropolitan area. Also proposed has been the inclusion of unregulated upstate New York areas in the metropolitan order.

The marketing orders set minimum prices that distributors must pay dairymen.

Written Arguments Are Ordered on Dismissal

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Ben H. Rice yesterday ordered written arguments presented within 20 days on a defense motion to dismiss two suits by a former air force lieutenant against the commander of Randolph Air Force Base.

William Recht Jr., of Woodmere, Long Island, N. Y., filed the suits last August when he was an assistant in the judge advocate's office at Randolph.

The first suit asked repayment of $250,000 allegedly collected illegally by "agents" of Brig. Gen. John W. Persons from some 1,000 residents of bachelor officers' quarters from 1950 to 1956 for porter and maid service.

The other suit requests $10,000 damages for Recht for "false imprisonment" in an air force psychiatric ward for observation after he filed the original suit.

State Auditors Probe More Missing Money

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—The State Division of Audit and Control is checking this city's books while a former clerk in a municipal office awaits grand jury action.

Mrs. Doris Burdo, 25, who was a junior clerk in the finance office, is charged with first-degree grand larceny in connection with the theft of $3,801 in city funds.

The city council asked for the audit after police said more money might be missing.

They said they had found in Mrs. Burdo's apartment more than $1,400 in checks attached to water bills. Additional water bills totaling $1,800, but no corresponding checks, also were found, police said.

A team of eight state auditors began checking the books yesterday.

LIFE IN "WORKERS' PARADISE"—This hovel, of earth, a few rough-hewn logs and a sod-block roof, is typical of the homes of Russia's slave laborers in Siberia. Its inhabitant is an Estonian woman, whose son lives in New Jersey. She works 15 hours every night in a nearby project and has been living this miserable existence for 16 years. This photo was smuggled out of Siberia without her knowledge. To conceal her identity, her features have been obliterated and an identifying structure in the background has been cut out.

Shrimp With Fried Rice Is New Orleans Dish

NEW ORLEANS' own shrimp and fried rice will bring the magic of Creole cookery to your table.

By GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Raw-frozen shrimp, fully peeled and deveined, now make shrimp cookery very much easier.

So does a 16-page, full-color recipe booklet "Shrimp Tips From New Orleans" just released by United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. (price 15 cents). All the tempting recipes use fully peeled and deveined shrimp, either canned, raw-frozen or precooked and frozen.

Shrimp With Fried Rice
(Serves 5-6)

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/3 cup chopped onion, 1 garlic clove, cut fine; 1 pound packaged raw-frozen, fully peeled, deveined shrimp, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cooking oil, 1½ cups uncooked rice, 1 cup chicken broth (hot), 2 cups boiling water, 2 teaspoons salt.

Melt butter in a heavy-bottom pan. Add onion, garlic, shrimp and salt. Cook shrimp over medium heat for 6 minutes, stirring frequently.

Remove shrimp to a warm place, add oil and rice. Increase heat and fry the rice about 3 minutes. Add broth, water, salt.

Reduce heat to a minimum, cover closely and cook rice 15 to 18 minutes without stirring, or until grains are fluffy and tender. Turn off heat. Return shrimp to the pan, cover, and let stand 5 minutes. Serve at once.

Flavor Variations: For an Italian touch, serve with grated Parmesan cheese. For Spanish or Latin flavor, add 2 good pinches of saffron dissolved in 2 tablespoons of hot water. Mix with the rice before adding the shrimp.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Shrimp with fried rice, canned peas, crusty rolls, butter or margarine, mixed green salad, lemon mernigue pie, coffee, tea milk.

The play of today's hand is a pianola. With six spade tricks and the other three aces, you can throw three no-trump against the wall. Furthermore, there is no way to pick up a tenth trick unless the defense drops dead or revokes.

The bidding looks simple enough also. South's opening no-trump is normal and North certainly should jump in spades with seven high-card points and a good six-card suit. South's rebid to three no-trump is obviously correct and when you look at the North and South hands together you can readily see that North should pass as his second call.

Nevertheless in a recent duplicate game almost all North and South pairs landed in four spades. The play in four spades is also a pianola, but one that strikes only sour notes. All you can make are the same nine tricks, and you are down one.

Furthermore, these same North players will probably bid four spades again the next time they hold this sort of hand.

If they go down again, as is quite likely, it will be entirely the fault of their own stubbornness.

Bridge is a partnership game. When your partner rebids no-trump after your spade jump, you must assume that he has heard your bid. Your spades will probably take as many tricks at no-trump as at spades. Why try for 10 tricks when you need try for only nine?

Dairymen to Name Successor to Cleric

Branchville, N. J., Jan. 2 (AP)—A spokesman for the Tri-State Master Dairy Farmers Guild says officers of the organization will name an executive director Jan. 10.

The appointee will succeed the Rev. John Dorney, who resigned Sunday. He said he wanted to devote more time to his congregation at the Baleville Corfgregational Church, which has about 190 members.

The dairy group claims 2,800 members in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Dorney was a central figure in its organization and only recently warned that milk might be withheld from markets unless prices went up.

Last June, the clergyman offered to resign his church post after his activities as an organizer were criticized.

The resignation was rejected by a vote of 37-10.

More Vegetables, Less Fruit in State During '56

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2 (AP) — New York state increased vegetable production in 1956 over that of 1955, but the overall fruit crop dropped off.

The state's vegetable growers placed fourth in the nation in production for fresh markets, according to a year-end survey by the New York crop-reporting service. California, Florida and Texas outdid New York.

The low fruit crop was attributed to wet weather, poor pollination and a late spring frost.

New York's commercial apple crop dropped 31 per cent while the national total decreased only 9 per cent. The peach crop fell off also despite an upward national trend.

Only the grape output showed any increase in New York.

Compared with the 10-year state average for 1945-54, the 1956 apple production was off 9 per cent, sour cherries off 26 per cent, sweet cherries off 55 per cent, pears up 3 per cent and grapes up 74 per cent.

Potato yields improved in upstate areas and offset a 4 per cent decline in the Long Island crop, so that the year's production was 7 per cent above 1955's.

Railroad Studies Building Spur To Cement Plant

Construction of a spur of New York Central from Kingston Point to the proposed cement plant in the Steep Rocks section is reportedly under consideration.

Official comment on the rumor was not available but it is reported that the Strelene Realty Corporation has been studying the possibilities of extending a spur to the proposed plant.

This realy firm, represented by Attorney Abraham Streifer, has been picking up options on property in the area as they fall due.

It is reported unofficially that the railroad spur now under study would run from Kingston Point across the mudflats through Hutton's brickyard to the Terry brickyard area. Such a spur would be a mile or a mile and a half long, it is estimated roughly.

An informed source told The Freeman that plans were "in the preliminary stages." Members of the corporation interested in the proposed plant are "scouting all possibilities," he reported.

Early last month the Strelene Realty Corporation acquired a 37-acre tract of land from the Brigham Bros. Corporation in the North street area of the city to make the fourth parcel of land acquired for the proposed plant. The corporation has already acquired a 73-acre tract from the Terry Brick Corporation, eight acres from the Staples Brickyard property and a small parcel from the Parslow premises. Several other properties are under option.

Gill Street Man Injured in Fall As Cars Collide

Henry VanGaasbeck, 34, of 62 Gill street, suffered a laceration of the right cheek when he fell from a car as it was involved in a collision with a truck on East Strand near Tompkins street last night.

A police report at 7:26 p. m., said a truck of the Defender Gas & Oil Co., 222 East Strand, operated by Howard A. Whittaker Jr., 28, of Eddyville, was backing out of a driveway, when it was struck by the sedan of Donald H. Elliott, 29, of 485 Wilbur avenue, headed east on East Strand.

VanGaasbeck, who fell from the car, as a result of the impact, was to be treated by a doctor, police said. Officers Floyd Krom and Gilbert Gray investigated.

Your Height Determines Length

Midwinter fur designs emphasize glamor and luxury. The short greatcoat of brass-colored Canadian beaver (above) looks its' best over a slim, straight skirt. Barrel silhouette (right) is used for truly luxurious long white mink evening coat with pale pink silk crepe lining.

The woman who wants to own mink but who doesn't want a full-length coat might put her money into the blouse jacket of autumn haze mink (above) with zippered closing. She'll find it useful at home or traveling. All three designs shown here are from Leo Ritter's collection.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

New York—(NEA)—Mink is the fur that most women want. But few of them will quibble at beaver or Alaska sealskin or Russian broadtail.

The length of the fur wrap you choose depends on several things: your bank account, your wardrobe needs and your height. If you are very small, you'll probably take your fur in the form of a bloused jacket rather than a full-length coat.

But if you are tall and willowy, the drama of the full-length cape or coat is for you. So is the barrel silhouette. You can wear the great coat in its full glory, too, while the shorter girl looks her best in the short great coat worn over a stem-like skirt.

The cape influence shows itself in both full-length and three-quarter length capes for daytime and evening year. These are done in mink and Alaska sealskin and are made snug through the use of bloused fronts.

The notable thing about all of these new designs in fur is fluidity. They are supple as silk and lightweight in the bargain. They're warm without being weighty, and as a bonus they offer linings in lush and dramatic fabrics and colors.

Voice of the Law

Kingstree, S. C. (AP)—The Williamsburg county sheriff's office found it a little difficult to believe the alibi of a "quartet" that it was fulfilling singing engagements. When the four were arrested, officers found 12 gallons of bootleg whiskey in the trunk of their car. Convicted of liquor law violations, the quartet will have to do its singing in the county jail.

Jones bought a business from an agent. After some months he failed. Meeting the agent some time later, he said:

Jones—Do you remember selling me a business a few months ago?

Agent — Yes, but what's the trouble. Isn't it as I represented it to be?

Jones—Oh, yes, you said it was in a busy locality where there were plenty of passers-by.

Agent—Well? What is wrong with that?

Jones—There were too many passers-by.

Why Are Artificial Limbs Called Cork Legs?

Artificial limbs are called cork legs because such limbs were formerly made of steel or other solid material covered with layers of cork to give them the necessary resilience. In 1901 an elderly manufacturer of artificial limbs at Exeter, England, said limbs constructed partly of cork were still used in the time of his youth. Because no cork is used for this purpose now, many curious theories attempting to account for the popular name have been advanced by persons who did not know that cork was formerly so employed. Cork legs, according to one writer, were so called after their inventor, Dr. Richard Cork.

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP)—A four-foot cross was burned last night in front of the church served by the Rev. C. K. Steele, leader of the Negroes who are campaigning for integrated seating on Tallahassee's buses. TOP 'BEST DRESSED' LIST—These three women were considered as topping the list of the world's best dressed, according to results of a poll released Dec. 31 by New York Dress Institute. Mrs. William Paley, left, headed the poll. The Duchess of Windsor, center, was runner up, followed by Princess Grace of Monaco, right. List of 12 best dressed was expanded to 14 this year by two ties. (AP Wirephoto)

Retains Position As World's Best Dressed Woman

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Mrs. William S. Paley, wife of the chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, retains her position as the world's best dressed woman in the New York Dress Institute's annual selection.

Second and third place winners last night in the "tasteful twelve" list—actually 14 this year because of two ties—are the Duchess of Windsor and Princess Grace of Monaco, the former Grace Kelly.

Mrs. Paley first appeared on the best-dressed list in 1940 and has taken first or second place for the last 10 years. She tied with Grace Kelly for first place last year.

The 1956 listing was the first since 1933, when the poll started, that included more than two Hollywood actresses.

Princess Grace, Audrey Hepburn, Marlene Dietrich and Rosalind Russell all made the grade.

Off the list were noted winners of past years such as Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby and Britain's Queen Elizabeth.

Three thousand fashion designers, editors and members of international society voted in the 1956 poll.

Other choices are:

4. Mrs. Winston Guest of New York, (5) Audrey Hepburn and Marlene Dietrich, tied; (6) Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr., New York; (7) Countess Consuelo Crespi, Rome; (8) Rosalind Russell; (9) the Duchess of Kent and Princess Margaret Rose of Great Britain, tied; (10) the Countess of Quintanilla, Madrid; (11) Mrs. Henry Ford 2d, Detroit and New York, and (12) Countess Mona von Bismarck, Paris and Capri (the former Mrs. Harrison Williams).

Good Taste Today

SHOWING PART OF LETTER

A letter explains: "Not long ago a friend of mine received a letter from a mutual friend of ours. She did not want me to read this letter but wanted me to see one sentence, and folded the letter in such a way that I could read just that part meant for me. I thought this extremely rude. What is your opinion?"

Your friend would have been more polite if she had read the sentence out loud to you instead of showing it in the way she did.

Which Way Up-side Down?

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently ordered a traveling clock to give to a friend for her birthday. It is enclosed in a leather case and I had it marked with her initials. The initials were put on in such a way as to appear right side up when the clock is closed. My sister thinks it is incorrectly marked and says that the initials should have been put on so that they would be right-side up when the clock is open (which means the initials would be upside down when the clock is closed). Will you please tell me which way is correct?

Answer: It is correct to have the initials put on so that they are right side up when the clock is opened for use, even though this leaves them upside down when the clock is closed.

Telephone Answered by Children

Dear Mrs. Post: Many of my friends have children seven years and under who are permitted to answer the telephone. When I call and ask to speak to their mothers, they will say, "Who is this?" It is quite disturbing to me as I don't think it is the child's privilege or right to ask me who I am. What is your opinion of this?

Answer: You have really no occasion to be upset by this. It is only by asking who you are that they can tell their mother who is on the telephone.

Where should the reception for friends be held after the christening? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-36, "The New Baby," describes the ceremony and reception. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. During the meeting, the Auxiliary voted to institute this service. A camera will be installed in the nursery and pictures will be taken by the hospital staff of all new born infants in the hospital. Car Washing Curtailed

Berlin, Conn. (AP)—Police today banned the practice of washing automobiles in brooks in outlying sections of this city. The practice was started some time ago when car washing was curtailed because of a water shortage in nearby New Britain. In addition to polluting the streams, police say, the brookside car washers are cluttering the stream banks with unsightly debris.

NO MEN FOR HER—Anne Bancroft, Hollywood filmstress in the process of getting a divorce, has vowed there'll only be four men in her life from now on: her father, her agent, her press agent and her analyst. Arms of the Law

Olympia, Wash. (AP)—Washington state law rules out "hugging drivers." But there's apparently a loophole. In a legal opinion, Atty. Gen. Don Eastvold said a young man can't drive with his arm around a girl. Conviction calls for mantatory suspension of one's driver's license, Eastvold pointed out. Also, before the license can be reinstated, proof must be offered of the driver's financial responsibility. But,—and here's the loophole — there was nothing said that would prohibit a young lady from putting HER arm around the driver, as long as he held both hands on the steering wheel.

Bogart Confident After Illness Bout

Hollywood, Jan. 3 (AP)—Humphrey Bogart isn't taking on any heavyweights these days, but he says his weight is stabilizing and he is "feeling great" after his 10-month fight against illness.

The actor underwent surgery on his esophagus last March. Some time thereafter he disclosed that a malignancy was removed in the operation. Last Nov. 26 he went back to the hospital for treatment to relieve pressure on a nerve, caused by scar tissue resulting from the previous surgery, his doctors said.

"I weigh 120 pounds so I'm holding steady, even though I'm about 35 pounds underweight," he said yesterday. He weighed the same last March.

His wife, actress Lauren Bacall, agreed that Bogey was doing "pretty well, considering everything."

Dutchess Barn Is Burned to Ground

A large barn on the property of Richard Kain, Jr., in the town of Amenia, Dutchess county, was burned to the ground late Wednesday morning.

Loss of the barn, 36 by 80 feet, was estimated at $20,000.

Fire reportedly broke out in the hayloft and spread rapidly. A considerable quantity of farm machinery, hay and straw were destroyed.

A newer barn, not more than 40 feet from the one that burned, was saved by firemen of Millerton and Amenia Fire Departments. The old barn was too far gone to salvage anything, it was reported.

No farm animals were lost in the flames which broke out about 11:15 a. m. All the cows, which are sheltered in the barn, were in pasture at the time.

Would Revise Laws

Providence, R. I., Jan. 3 (AP)—Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D), who was returned to office by a State Supreme Court decision, says he is in favor of a revision of the state's election laws. At his first news conference since he was sworn in for a fourth term Tuesday, Roberts said last night the laws governing absentee and shut-in voting should be corrected because of an apparent contradiction in the state constitution. The Rhode Island Supreme Court ruled on Jan. 1 that Roberts won the Nov. 6 election over Republican Christopher Del Sesto because of a technicality in connection with absentee ballots.

Negro Dies in Chair

Huntsville, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP)—John Edward McHenry, a Negro convicted of raping a white Houston housewife, was electrocuted in the state here early today. McHenry, who came to Houston five months before the assault from Delano, Calif., kept his eyes closed most of the time while he was being strapped into the chair. He walked into the death chamber smoking a cigarette. McHenry appeared calm and made no last statement except to ask prison Chaplain Father Francis Duffy to write his mother in Delano.

Would Change Name

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—New York state leaders of the Communist party want to change its name and change it into a "non-party political action association." The proposal was in the form of a majority report of the state committee, approved 25 to 6 in a meeting on Dec. 8, and sent to party clubs yesterday along with a sharply dissenting report.

Fire Destroys Hotel

Unadilla, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—The Unadilla House, believed more than 140 years old, was destroyed by fire today at a loss estimated at $75,000. The hotel's 12 registered guests escaped to safety as flames shot through the three-story, frame structure. Only the shell remained standing. More than 100 men from three volunteer companies fought the pre-dawn fire in near-zero temperatures.

U. S. Toll On Roads Is Record

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic accidents killed more Americans in 1956 than ever before—and law officials throughout the nation are turning to get-tough policies to cut down the highway slaughter.

In the year just ended, the nation had at least a 5 per cent rise over 1955 in the number of auto deaths. The final figure is not yet available but safety experts predict a total of more than 40,000.

The 1955 figure was 38,426. The previous high—39,969—was recorded in 1941.

Crackdowns Planned

In states which had fewer traffic fatalities in 1956 than in 1955, credit generally is given to rigid enforcement of safety measures. In states where traffic deaths increased, similar crackdowns generally are planned.

A state-by-state survey by the Associated Press shows that these measures—already in effect in some states and planned in others—include:

1. Increasing the number of police patrols on highways. This has top priority in most states.

2. New laws—or harsher enforcement of existing laws—calling for suspension of licenses and/or fines and imprisonment for motorists convicted of drunk driving, "chronic" negligence and speeding.

3. Tighter examinations for vehicle licenses and mandatory auto inspection programs.

Use of Troops

4. Use of National Guard troops or sheriff's deputies to re-enforce regular highway police during peak travel periods, such as holiday weekends.

5. Periodic road blocks—with massed troopers stopping all cars and checking on licenses, intoxication and vehicle condition.

6. Expansion of the use of radar devices in catching speeders.

7. Establishing state speed limits where they are not already in force.

The survey came on the heels of the Christmas and New Year weekends when 1,115 persons were killed in the combined holiday periods—a new high.

Man Is Detained For Immigration Dept.

Christos Rambazis, 18, of 83 Elmendorf street, who was detained on North Front street Wednesday evening on a charge of illegal entry into the country, was paroled for an appearance before the U. S. Immigration Department, police reported.

Rambazis, detained by Officer Robert FitzGibbon at 7:21 p. m., was released at 9:55 p. m. by Inspector Ausman of the Department of Justice, Office of Immigration and Naturalization.

The blotter notation said Rambazis is scheduled to appear before the Investigations Section, Department of U. S. Immigration, 70 Columbus avenue, New York city.

Firemen Fight

Hoehing and Officers William Snyder, Harry Tempelaar, Floyd Krom, Gilbert Gray, George Dohnken, Bruce Clarke, Ira Hadsel and Robert FitzGibbon.

Firemen were recalled at 1:50 a. m. today but a detail was assigned throughout the night to the job of wetting down the ruins.

Times Ups Price

New York, Jan. 3 (AP) — The New York Times said today the price of its Sunday edition will be increased from 25 cents to 35 cents outside a 200-mile radius from the city, effective Jan. 13. The price inside the 200-mile radius will continue at 25 cents.

Courtesy Is Contagious

Stoughton, Wis. (AP)—The Imperial Kustom Klub, formed here by a group of teenagers, was organized to stimulate safe and courteous driving among all motorists. Its slogan: "Safety and courtesy are contagious; don't fight it, you are outnumbered."

Ferry Service Called Normal

Service on the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry, which experienced difficulty on a couple trips yesterday due to cold weather, was reported normal today by the New York State Bridge Authority.

The ferry was hampered by ice in the river yesterday when it jammed in some of the boat's mechanism and the crew had trouble with the steering gear. No difficulty was experienced today, the bridge authority said.

It was indicated the boat will keep running despite wintry weather, although it was stressed that keeping to the exact schedule would be difficult.

A spokesman for the Authority said service will continue until "real freezing weather calls a halt to operations."

Two Persons Hurt As Car Hits Tree

Two persons were injured early today when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree at the intersection of Stephan and Emerick streets, police reported.

Injured were John Thomas Schoonmaker, 21, of 55 Grant street, operator of 1954 sedan owned by John T. Schoonmaker, same address, who was treated at Kingston Hospital and released, and Ronnie Schoonmaker, 17, same address.

Police said the extent of their injuries was not determined. The Schoonmaker youth was reported in "apparently fairly good" condition at the hospital today.

James Amendola, of 616 Broadway, reported to police headquarters at 2:11 a. m., that while driving on Foxhall avenue he discovered the Schoonmaker vehicle crashed into a tree at the intersection of Stephan and Emerick streets. He said he had conveyed the two occupants of the car to the hospital.

Officers William Snyder and Harry Tempelaar, who investigated, said the Schoonmaker car was headed south on Stephan street, the driver lost control and crashed into a tree in front of 28 Stephan street.

The car, damaged on the entire front end, was towed away, the report said.

Teamster Records

Johnny LaGuardia, alias Johnny Dio, much discussed figure in labor circles, would be connected up with the activities of the ousted regime.

At the Wednesday session there was considerabe time devoted to the general method of collection of dues and the issuance of receipts. The old regime claims the new staff of officers are not in good standing in the Local. They allege they are and are attempting to produce records of the Local to prove this. However, it is alleged the records in the office are in such a state that apparently "no one could be in good standing" according to the available records because of the acts perpetrated by the old regime while in office.

Through records available Referee Heffernan was told that there were expenditures of about $227,000 in 1955 under the old regime while the Local took in only $197,000. Checks some in the amount of $10,000, have been produced showing large sums paid out for "expenses" and also used for defense funds. It is also charged there were thousands of dollars in cash payments made.

The Daley slate was finally recognized last September after long court proceedings and under a court order the records in the Yonkers office seized by the "rank and file" group when the office was taken over by the Daley officers. These records are being produced in court before Referee Heffernan, before whom Daley and his slate are attempting to prove they are the legal representatives of the membership.

Counsel for the Daley slate allege they will show during the trial that many labor "racketeers" have been involved in the affairs of Local 445, during the time the ousted regime was in control.

DPW Pay Raise

creases of some $400 for local policemen and firemen, and held that the BPW employes should be entitled to their share.

Can't Be Done

At one point during Albany conferences on the time-and-a-half proposal, Kelly said, he was led to believe that the city would be permitted to proceed on the old basis. He had telephoned Mayor Stang to that effect, he said, but on the next day was told that it could not be done.

An amendment aimed at permitting local legislative bodies to decide as to overtime practices, was due to be introduced in Albany this year, he said.

Claims No Date Given

Alderman Perry read the invitation he had received to attend a BPW meeting to explain reported charges against the public works superintendent, made by Perry at a November council meeting.

In his reported charge of "negligence," Perry claimed that $16,000 spent on a Gill street sewer project was a waste of money.

The fifth ward alderman noted that he was to be notified as to the time of the BPW meeting. He has not heard further from the board,he said, and he asked the city clerk to invite the board, public works superintendent and city engineer to the next council session.

Makes Own Decisions

"There are rumors going around that city officials control Sam Perry," the alderman said. "I am sick and tired of hearing that talk on the street. There's no one that controls Sam Perry."

A large group of public works employes attended the session, and a scattered few others were there to hear proceedings. Leon Studt, a local public works employe, who heads the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, on invitation of Second Ward Alderman William S. Keyser (R) was granted privilege of the floor to introduce Attorney Kelly.

The local employes' association after a meeting several days ago, decided to seek $250 above the $150 listed for them in the 1957 budget. The bid last night went above that on the basis of figures given by Attorney Kelly.

"INDUSTRIAL DENTIST" — An industrial "dental" chore is performed by Wesley Weaver, a chipper, in this 101,040-pound iron casting, the largest ever produced at the General Electric foundry in Schenectady, N.Y. Though it took only three and a half minutes to pour the casting, a period of 20 weeks and the work of 15 men was required to prepare the pit and mold, do the casting, clean, cool and ship the monster. Fourteen feet high, 22 feet wide and 10 feet deep, it is an upper exhaust hood for a 171,000-kilowatt steam turbine.

Action Is . . .

000 with which to operate pending collection of taxes.

Requests for such sums annually are considered routine, and have been adopted generally at the first regular meeting of each year. It now goes over to the Jan. 8 recessed meeting which will bring council action a week closer to the Jan. 15 city pay roll period.

Proposes Posts for Mayor

Alderman William S. Keyser (R) second ward, offered the proposed two local laws, which would make the mayor a member of the boards of water and fire commissioners. He proposed a first reading at last night's session, but Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk referred them to the laws and rule committee.

The mayor now serves as president of the Board of Public Works and the Board of Police Commissioners, but is not a member of the other city boards.

Only Two in Favor

Only Alderman Edwin Radel (D) third ward, and William A. Davis (R) 11th ward, voted in favor of the building inspector attending the eighth annual building inspectors' school to be held Feb. 21 and 22 at the Hotel New Yorker, New York.

Radel said he felt that the newly appointed inspector should be granted permission to attend the school as a means of familiarizing himself with the job. Keyser proposed referring the request to the finance committee for more study, and Roth proposed more consideration because of "no money in the budget" for the purpose.

James K. Ryan, (D) 10th ward, noted that the aldermen had previously authorized attendance of officials at similar schools and meetings, and made a bid for reconsideration of the request. Alderman-at-large Schwenk noted that the council's rules permitted reconsideration "at the same or next regular meeting," which leaves the way open for further action.

Ryan said he thought it would be better if those attending such schools and meetings would give reports on them and indicate expenses.

Chamber Sends Letter

The Chamber of Commerce letter proposed that "all concerned" take prompt steps to provide traffic links between the west approach of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, and Route 32 near Gate 19 of the New York State Thruway (referred to as extension of Route 209) with interchanges at Route 9W and 32.

These projects, the letter held, should be given priority, and it also asked the state department of public works to advance final plans on the 1954 arterial route plan. It proposed reconsideration of the plans as they affect the area at Broadway, Albany avenue and St. James street, and asked elimination of the Washington avenue viaduct and construction of a wider span over the Esopus creek.

Copies of the letter, it was noted, were sent to the state senator and assemblyman, board of supervisors, as well as to the council and others.

For Weekend Use

Alderman Roth's letter to the education board proposed the use of the No. 7 school grounds in the uptown area for parking on Friday nights and all day Saturdays. He said he believed the Uptown Business Men's Association would hire a watchman to take care of the grounds, and he felt the proposal would have the support of the mayor, council and uptown merchants.

The claim of Laura M. and Walter T. Elston against the city, seeks $35,000 for a fracture of the left thigh suffered in a fall Sept. 20, 1956 by Mrs. Elston near 611 Broadway. It seeks $5,000 for Mr. Elston for expenses and loss of services of his wife. The claim was referred to the corporation counsel.

The mishap was attributed to a protruding pipe, or two other sunken pipes in the area of 611 Broadway at the time. Walter J. Miller is the attorney for the claimant.

Complains About Fumes

Also referred to the corporation counsel was a letter from William Greenwald, owner of a liquor store at 426 Washington avenue, where, he said, gasoline fumes have been seeping into the basement.

The fire department has been there four times, he said. An exhaust fan must be kept going, since no remedial action has been found. He said he has applied to all city departments without satisfactory results, and he indicated that the city would be held responsible if any serious mishap occurred.

Alderman Roth said he had been at the place, but added "What the answer is, I don't know."

The laws and rules committee followed along with a recommendation of the city planning board in reporting favorably on changing the name of Hope street, in the Pearl street extension area to Overlook Drive, and the measure was adopted.

A letter from Cordts Hose Company No. 8, directed to the attention of Alderman William A. Davis, as chairman of the council's building and supplies committee, expressed thanks for the "fine installation of an oil-burner unit," in the hose company's engine house. It was signed by Gus Lovy, the company's secretary.

These include retired wage earners, their wives, widows and dependent children.

The office now has a staff of 11 people and maintains part-time offices in Monticello, Liberty, Ellenville, Saugerties and New Paltz.

Postal Hike Seen

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP) — A Republican lawmaker reported today that Postmaster General Summerfield is planning to ask Congress to raise the price of letter stamps to 5 cents. They now cost 3 cents. The legislator, who asked that his name not be used, said Summerfield presented this plan at a White House meeting of GOP congressional leaders Monday.

Jimmy Dorsey Ill

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, 52, is in Doctors Hospital for a lung operation. Tino Barzi, Dorsey's agent, said today that the musician entered the hospital yesterday and is to be operated on tomorrow for removal of a wart on his left lung. "It is nothing serious," Barzi said, "most people couldn't bother about it, but it's irritating for musicians who perform on woodwinds and brass. It is fairly common among them."

Fullmer Beats Robinson to Win World Middleweight Title

Challenger Makes Best Showing in Late Rounds

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Freshly crowned middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, a rough and tough mauler, warned Ray Robinson today that he'll be "twice as mean" and gunning for a knockout the next time he fights the dethroned king.

"I fought for nothing this time," said the unmarked, 25-year-old Mormon from West Jordan, Utah. "The next fight—if Robinson wants it—I'll be out there for the big money and to keep the title. I'll be twice as mean and I'll be out for a knockout. I wanted to go for the kayo in this one but Marv (Manager Marv Jenson) said I had the title wrapped up in the late rounds and not to open up."

Whether there will be a return fight—and the chances are strong that there will be one—will be decided this afternoon when the dejected, 36-year-old Sugar Man meets with his brain trust to decide his fistic future.

Takes Body Pounding

The fading Robinson, making the second defense of his third reign as middleweight champion, lost on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds after being floored, for six in the seventh round, cut and soundly whacked to the body throughout. Ray was gashed over the left eye in the seventh and it was widened in the 14th.

Referee Ruby Goldstein, a target of heated criticism by Robinson's advisors, voted for Fullmer by eight rounds to five with two even. Judge Frank Forbes had Gene ahead, 10-5, while Judge Harold Barnes had it a shade closer, 9-6. The Associated Press card had Fullmer in front, 9-6.

Fullmer, thick-necked, brawny armed mine worker, got off to a fast start in the first three rounds, swept the sixth, seventh, and eighth rounds, the 10th, and clinched the first boxing title for Utah with a rousing surge in the 13th and 14th rounds.

Punches Lack Steam

Robinson, hurt five times himself, shook Gene at least three times but couldn't follow up as he did to opponents in the past. Maybe the spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak and the reflexes have slowed.

Robinson, who collected a $139,050 to Fullmer's $20,802, has a contract calling for a return bout within 90 days at 30-30 split if he wants it.

"It's up to them," said the grim-faced Harlemite, pointing to Ernie Braca, Harold (Killer) Johnson, Joe Glaser and George Gainford, who handle his business. "They'll do the deciding."

How did he feel about continuing in the ring?

"Boxing is my business," he replied, leaving no doubt that he wants another crack at the pride of the Rockies.

Fullmer On Offense

Fullmer, a Korean War veteran, pressed the action most of the way, lunging in for one series of body smashes after another—body blasts that weakened the onetime dazzler of the ring and dropped him on the apron of the ring in the seventh round for the six-count. A right to the body and a followup left did it, said Gene, but Robinson claimed "it was a push and no knockdown."

That was the only knockdown of the fight—and an authentic one to this observer—although they both fell across the bottom rope in the sixth round, forcing another strand on the opposite side of the ring to snap. It required an extra 25 seconds between rounds to fix that temporarily and, in the 10th round when the lowest rope on two sides of the ring collapsed, commission officials ordered the fight to go on without having the damage repaired.

Both were shaken several times.

Criticizes Goldstein

While the only complaint Robinson had to make was over alleged rabbit punching (blows to the back of the neck), his handlers said they would protest Goldstein's handling of the fight to the commission Friday.

"Goldstein let him get away with butting, low punches, heeling and a few other things," said Braca and Gainford. "I know we can't change the decision but we want to show up Goldstein. He never was a good referee. He's a showboat."

Robinson just made the division limit of 160 pounds. Fullmer scaled 157¼.

Willie Signs For $35,000

New York, Jan. 33 (AP)—Willie Mays has signed his 1957 contract with the New York Giants and reportedly will receive the same $35,000 salary he had last season despite a hitting slump.

Mays dropped into club offices and signed yesterday.

Willie snapped out of a long slump in the closing stages of the campaign. He hit 11 home runs in the course of a September salary drive that brought his total for the year to 36. He hit 51 in 1955. His batting average in 1956 was .296, a drop of 23 points. His runs batted in dropped from 127 to 84.

Mays led the league in stolen bases, however, his 40 thefts representing the best National League total since Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler stole 43 in 1929.

Fullmer's Home Town Lives It Big—And Loud

West Jordan, Utah, Jan. 3 (AP)—They took it big here in Gene Fullmer's home town when the word flashed that Utah's cyclone had won the middleweight championship of the world.

Perhaps taking it biggest of all was his wife Dolores, 25, who says she "shouted so loud the baby started to cry" when the decision came over on television.

"I was just so happy at the decision I burst into tears," Mrs. Fullmer said. She usually accompanies Gene when he leaves town for a fight, but this time she had to stay home to care for five-months-old Kaye Fullmer, their baby girl.

In West Jordan, the spontaneous celebration was like nothing seen since the end of World War 2. Within minutes after the fight, many of the 2,100 townspeople were in the streets.

A caravan estimated at 100 cars formed and toured West Jordan and the nearby Salt Lake City suburbs of South Jordan and Midvale, honking horns and loaded with fans who shouted and whistled.

Many cars in the caravan ended their impromptu parade in front of Fullmer's home, where they cheered Dolores and members of her family who had joined her in watching the fight on television.

Venezuelan Surprise of Dixie Tennis

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP)—Left handed Iyo Pimentel of Venezuela, the player nobody noticed in pre-tourney arranging, has wound up the sensation of the Dixie tennis tournament.

The Venezuelan pulled the upset of the tournament yesterday in defeating fourth-seeded Roger Becker of England 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Pimentel today takes on defending champion Armando Vieira of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who's nifty on his feet too. Vieria had a rather tough time in defeating lanky Cal Dickson of Tampa yesterday, 6-4, 6-4.

In another quarterfinal top match today, third seeded Don Candy of Australia meets Mario Llamas of Mexico city. Llamas, sixth seeded, defeated Henri Rochon of Canada, 6-1, 7-5 yesterday. Candy defeated Mexico's Jose Ochoa 6-2, 6-2 and Germany's Peter School, 6-3, 8-6.

Mervyn Rose turned in two onesided performances in defeating Hector Cabella, Mexico City, 6-0, 6-1 and Renaldo Garrido, Havana, 6-0, 6-1.

Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J., had little trouble polishing off Orlando Carrido of Cuba 6-2, 6-1.

Joey Hoffman Award Winner

Named for OTBA Player of Year

A father-son combination will share the spotlight at the annual Old Timers Baseball Association dinner, Wednesday, Jan. 9, at Cuneo's.

Joe Hoffman, veteran baseball figure, will be elevated to the presidency of the OTBA, while his son, Joey Jr., is slated to receive the association's award to the outstanding Kingston High School baseball player of 1956.

JOE HOFFMAN

The OTBA is also honoring Charlie Lay and Preston Knight from the veteran ranks and Harry Desmond, the 72-year-old retired Saugerties umpire.

Grayson is Speaker

Harry Grayson, sports editor of NEA Service and a regular contributor to The Daily Freeman sports page, will be the principal speaker.

Named over Jim Jackson in a close race, young Hoffman batted .500 for Kingston High in 12 games. He collected 18 hits in 36 times at bat and belted two triples and five doubles, leading the team in those departments. He scored 12 runs, walked 10 times and struck out five.

Had Record Day

Hoffman is also believed to have led in runs batted in, although those statistics are not available.

Joey enjoyed one of the biggest days ever credited to a Kingston High hitter on May 14 against Middletown when he pounded five hits in five times at bat. He punished three Middie pitchers for two doubles, a pair of triples and a single and knocked five runs across the plate and scored three times.

He is ticketed for a spring tryout with the New York Yankees.

Blacktops Rout Ramblers, 81-64 In 'B' League

Charlie Marable's 30-point splurge couldn't save Ramblers from an 81-64 pasting at the hands of the Blacktops in the YMCA "B" League last night.

The Rambler center unloaded a dozen fields and six singletons but his teammates trailed all the way, by as much as 57-44 at the three quarter mark.

Ronnie Marks canned 16 points to lead the Blacktops and three members of the team—Richie Nagele, Butch Tomaseskie and Frank Tiano—accounted for 12 each.

The better balance of the Blacktop squad was reflected in the scoring statistics which showed nine of the ten Toppers scoring at least three points.

Vince Hart was runnerup for Ramblers with 14 points.

Goalie Hall On New Skein For Wings

(By The Associated Press)

Hockey goalies are like purple cows. Most anyone would rather see than be one—and Detroit's young Glenn Hall is really a guy to see.

A slight-looking kid of 21 who was last season's Rookie of the Year with a leading total of 12 shutouts, Hall added his third shutout of the season and second in succession last night as the Red Wings defeated Toronto 2-0 and moved back into the National Hockey League lead.

One-Point Lead

Last night's game at Toronto was the only contest scheduled and with it the Wings pushed into a one-point lead. Both Detroit and Boston have won 20 games, but the Wings have a 7-6 edge in ties for the leading points.

Hall turned back 32 shots with relative ease while running his scoreless string to 149 minutes, 58 seconds.

Another youngster, leftwing Johnny Bucyk, gave Detroit and Hall the big goal, beating Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick from 5 feet out on Bill Dineen's pass at 1:56 of the second period. Gordie Howe counted the other Wing goal at 7:12 of the third frame.

Baylor Fullback Apologizes to Vol

New Orleans, Jan. 3 (AP)—Larry Hickman, 210-pound Baylor fullback who lost his temper apologized in person to guard Bruce Burnham of Tennessee for kicking him in the face during a Sugar Bowl midfield brawl.

"I was wrong," Hickman told Burnham. "I'm sorry."

Burnham smiled forgiveness. The two posed shaking hands for a news photographer.

In Quiet Drama

The quietly dramatic apology took place in Room 349 in Touro Infirmary where Burnham spent the night recovering from facial lacerations, concussion and a broken nose.

Hickman apologized to the Tennessee team last night at a banquet given for both squads. He was applauded.

The fight came in the third quarter on a play in which Tennessee's All-American halfback Johnny Majors was tackled while trying to get away a pass. Baylor won the game, 13-7.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 3 (AP)—Del Miller, a leading trainer-driver of harness horses, has been named first recipient of a horseman award established by the Horseman-Fair World magazine.

Miller was selected by the magazine's readers as the man contributing the most to the sport the past season.

Owner of the Meadowlands Farm at Meadow Land, Pa. and a leading breeder, Miller two seasons ago sold the stallion Adios a $21,000 purchase for an all-time high of $500,000 to Hanover Shoe Farms.

Mustangs Gain Seventeenth Straight in League Action

By The Associated Press

Time was when the Southwest Conference was upset-prone in basketball. But Southern Methodist apparently has changed all that.

The Mustangs, beaten only by Kentucky this season, opened defense of their conference crown by nailing their 17th consecutive league victory with an easy 79-64 decision over Baylor last night.

Baylor tried a zone against the Mustangs, ranked fourth in the Associated Press poll off their 11-1 record, but SMU simply shot over it.

It was a relatively light night on the college scene, with Vanderbilt the only other member of the top 10 in action. The ninth rated Commodore cracked William & Mary 80-65 with Joe Gibbs canning 21 points.

Houston junked Drake's hopes for a winning "debut" in the Missouri Valley Conference as Andy McElveen whipped in a layup and a foul shot in the final 39 seconds for a 74-72 victory.

New School Record

Alabama's little Jack Kubiszyn hit 17 of 32 field attempts for a school record of 47 points in an 86-53 job on Mississippi Southern. And Auburn, another Southeast Conference entry, surged past 100 points for the first time in history with a 101-70 decision over little Howard (Ala.).

Canisius, which won the Queen City tournament and is ranked No. 15, led virtually all the way in an 80-70 victory over Detroit.

In late finishing—and late starting—holiday tournaments it was:

Amherst Clicks

Amherst 87, New Hampshire 55, as the Lord Jeffs built a 31-point lead in the first half to win the first New Hampshire Invitational. Bowdoin defeated Trinity (Conn.) 75-53 for third place.

Spring Hill 67, Furman 56 and Morehead (Ky.) 97, Florida State 75 in the first round of the Senior Bowl tourney at Mobile. Spring Hill, the defending champ, made it to the finals on the out-court shooting of Whitie Barnes.

In other games, Villanova defeated Muhlenberg 71-67, Washington of St. Louis spilled Valparaiso 77-62, Boston U. swept past Northeastern 87-55.

Connecticut, winner of the recent Orange Bowl tournament, was upset by Dartmouth 70-67 in overtime.

Charge Russell Violates NBA Rules on Defense and Zone

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3 (AP)—A controversy is boiling over some of the tactics used by Bill Russell, the rookie sensation of the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association.

Some coaches and owners, including Eddie Gottleib, the coach of the Philadelphia Warriors, contend that at times Russell is trying to play a one-man zone and is goal tending.

Gottlieb planned today to protest at least one play of Tuesday night's Philadelphia-Boston game at Syracuse. Said Gottleib:

Bats Them Away

"Our Paul Arizin went underneath for a simple backboard lay-up and as the ball headed down toward the basket, Russell batted it away. If this isn't goal tending I want somebody to tell me what is. I'm certainly going to ask Maurice Podloff (president of the NBA).

As for the zone defense which is outlawed by the NBA, Gottleib said: "At times Russell tries to play a one-man zone. He stands under the basket and waits to try and bat shots out."

In Boston, the Celtics' coach, Red Auerbach said any controversy was "a question of sour grapes." He called Gottleib's statement "absolutely ridiculous."

Matthews will speak on "Club, Federation and Council" and their relation to one another. Judge Bruhn's topic will be "Conservation and Youth in Sports."

The annual business meeting and election of officers will be held after the speeches.

No Fishing

Quincy, Ill., (AP)—The saddest words of rod and reel men among members of the Big Lake Hunting and Fishing Club are that the lake is dry and thousands of fish perished. The drouth turned the 105-acre basin into a baked mud puddle. Sid E. Weseman, secretary of the club, says only once before in the 60 year history of the organization has the lake been dry.

Pettit Widens Scoring Lead

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—A spectacular week's spree by Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks has boosted the former LSU All-America well ahead of his closest contenders for the National Basketball Assn. scoring crown.

The 6-9 Pettit scored 134 points in four games in competition through Jan. 1 to increase his season's total to 806 and his game average to 26.9.

Both Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, steady scoring leaders of the Philadelphia Warriors, lost ground although they performed at their accustomed pace.

Arizin, although having played one more game than Pettit, now trails the St. Louis ace by 39 points while Johnston is 59 back.

The leading ten scorers:

Ramsey Rejoins Boston Celtics

Boston, Jan. 3 (AP)—Former Kentucky star, Frank Ramsey, has rejoined the Boston Celtics after 18 months in the Army.

"I'm in good shape and I hope I can fit in with the team," Ramsey said, before his first workout with the Celtics. "They're going too well now. I just hope they can use me."

Oklahoma, Maglie Win Capital Honors

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma's undefeated football team and Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Sal Maglie have been selected for top awards of the Touchdown Club of Washington.

Club officials said Oklahoma was named "outstanding college team of the year." The Sooners, unbeaten in four seasons, scored 466 points last fall to 51 by 10 opponents.

Maglie was chosen for the Clark Griffith Memorial award for his "sensational string of victories" in the last month of the National League pennant race. Maglie was described as the "Comeback Man" of the league.

Both awards will be presented at club's annual dinner Jan. 12.

Talbert Urges Emphasis On Youngsters in Tennis

Los Angeles, Jan. 3 (AP)—The non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup team said yesterday America must revise its thinking on tennis or content itself with being secondary figure in international competition.

Bill Talbert warned:

"If we are to compete with Australia, we must do it on Australian terms," on his arrival from Australia, where his Davis Cup team again was beaten 5-0 in the challenge round.

No Easy Road

"We have a long and hard road ahead of us, but we can regain our postion if we work at it."

Talbert said that to compete with Australia, America must concentrate on its 13 and 14-year-old players and see they are given the best year-round instruction.

The United States must change its emphasis on baseball, golf and other sports or allow tennis to become a minor sport," he said.

Coach Jordan Out at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 3 (AP)—Only an official announcement that Lloyd Jordan is fired appeared lacking today before Harvard hangs out a "help wanted" sign for the 22nd coach in its 82-year football history.

Jordan said last night that the Faculty Committee on Athletic Sports has asked the Harvard Corporation to "replace" him and buy up his contract which has two years to run.

Jordan said athletic director Thomas D. Bolles told him Monday that "poor teaching" was given by the committee as its reason for the dismissal vote.

"I asked him, 'you mean we didn't win enough games?' and he replied 'something like that,'" the 56-year-old coach said.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Assn., Jordan moved to Harvard in 1950 after 18 years as coach and athletic director at Amherst College. He earns about $12,500 a year.

His Harvard teams have had little success on the gridiron, winning 24 games, losing 31 and playing 3 ties. The 1956 team won two and lost six.

Tommy (Red) Williams of Rochester's American Hockey League team has averaged only 19 minutes a season in the penalty box for eight years in the league.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

We took the gamble last fall and made the trip up to Cowbone Lake, 9,000 feet high on the Idaho and Montana border.

It was a long climb up, and from a fishing standpoint, not worth the effort, but we went down on the Idaho side through the Lemhi Indian country and ended up in Ashton—gateway to the Bechler river in Wyoming.

The Bechler meanders down a long meadow that stretches for miles to the north. Until late summer this is a vast swamp, breeding the insect hordes that make fishing impossible. In warm weather nobody can wear all the layers of fabric required to keep the insects from biting through clothing. It's only after the first killing frosts of mid-September that the Bechler can be fished at all.

Three Big Reasons

There are three reasons for the Bechler's immunity from overfishing. First, it is remote from any town or resort, being entirely cut off from the rest of Yellowstone Park. Second, it requires an hour's hike through the timber to reach it.

Third, and most important, it is screened with the greatest concentration of mosquitoes and deer flies man will ever see. If you are lucky enough to be there next September, however, the bugs will be gone—and you can sample some of the greatest trouting left in this country.

Any fisherman who takes the trouble to reach this stream will not be interested in small trout. In flat, open water of this kind it is easy to distinguish the rise of small fish and avoid wasting time on them.

Plenty of Browns

There are plenty of browns in the Bechler scaling up to five pounds. Trout this big take a lot of careful handling to tire out with terminal tackle of dry fly size. Small hooks tend to cut themselves free, and 3X gut is apt to chafe through in a weed bed, or get cut off by the trout's teeth.

Although the Bechler is primarily a dry fly stream, a careful angler can improve his chances by using a small wet fly or nymph and a leader tapered down to 2X. With a dry fly one tries to drop the fly a foot or less upstream from the last rise.

Because of the added hook weight in even a small wet fly, and the somewhat heavier leader, it is the best to cast well above the last observed rise so that the impact of the fly will not alarm the trout. We caught and released 30 to 40 browns in one afternoon on the Bechler using both dry flies and wets.

Charlie Ane, Detroit Lion offensive center, learned to kick barefooted in his native Hawaii.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 3 (AP) — The stock market was irregular with a slightly higher trend on average early this afternoon.

Pivotal stocks moved narrowly, showing gains or losses within the range of a point or so.

The market was higher in active trading at the opening but most of the edge to the upside was blunted in later dealings. Meanwhile, turnover slackened considerably.

Leading oils were mostly on the upside but in most other major groups the pattern of pivotal stocks was mixed. Shipbuilding issues, however, continued their rise of yesterday on prospects for booming business in the next three years.

On the American Stock Exchange oils led the list to higher ground in fairly active trading.

Corporate bonds were higher in quiet trading.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall street, New York city; branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Democrats Take

lence overshadowed such other questions of the moment as the promised move by a group of western and northern senators to change Senate rules and make it easier to cut off filibusters. They believe such a step could clear the way for passage of civil rights legislation.

Civil Rights Has Priority

A civil rights program is one of the domestic matters President Eisenhower has high on his list of desired legislation. He already has outlined some of his desires in conferences with Republican leaders, and will put his requests formally before the Congress in his State of the Union message to be delivered personally a week from today.

Before the gavels banged at noon in the Senate and House chambers, formally launching the session, party caucuses by Senators settled party leadership questions in routine fashion.

Knowland Reelected

The Republicans reelected Knowland as their floor leader and elevated Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts to chairman of the Republican conference. Saltonstall succeeds Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado who did not run for reelection.

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois was made party "whip," or assistant leader, a post Saltonstall held in the last session.

Democratic Senators again chose Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas as floor leader and picked Sen. Mansfield of Montana as "whip." Mansfield takes the job that Sen. Clements of Kentucky had in the last session. Clements was defeated for re-election.

Houghton Held For Grand Jury In Threat Case

Edwin W. Houghton, 32, of 22 Post street, charged with first degree assault after having allegedly threatened local patrolmen with a shotgun Dec. 26, today waived examination in city court and was held to await action of the grand jury.

Officers William Snyder and Frank Monte, who were discharged to the Houghton home after reported domestic trouble, said they were met by Houghton at the door with a shotgun and he ordered them from the premises. Other officers were called and Houghton was taken to police headquarters without further trouble.

Police said the shotgun contained five shells and that, along with a .22 calibre fully loaded rifle, found in the kitchen, were confiscated.

Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for Houghton in court today and Bernard A. Feeney Jr., represented the district attorney's office.
